MAYOR SENDS NOMINATIONS TO THE CITY COUNCIL

John J. Flannery Named to Succeed Royal K. Dexter on Budget and Audit Commission and Clarence M. Weed to Succeed Himself as Park Board Member

JOHN J. FLANNERY

CLARENCE M. WEED

Mayor John J. Donovan today sent to the city clerk for presentation to the council the nominations of John J. Flannery to succeed Royal K. Dexter as a member of the budget and audit commission, and Clarence M. Weed to succeed himself as a member of the board of park commissioners for a term of five years.

Mr. Flannery is nominated for a three-year term, dating from January 1 of the present year and Mr. Weed's five-year term dates back to the first Monday of May, 1923, since which time he has remained in office as a hold-over. He is the present chairman of the park board.

John J. Flannery has been in line for the appointment to the budget commission for some time, but his nomination has been withheld until such a time as Mr. Dexter returned to the city from a southern trip. Mr. Flannery is a prominent member of the Catholic Young Men's League and served as secretary of the general committee which arranged the welcome home celebration in honor of Henry Sullivan after his record-breaking swim across the English channel.

Royal K. Dexter did not know of the mayor's actual nomination of Mr. Flannery until advised by a representative of this paper. Asked if he desired to comment upon it, Mr. Dexter replied in the negative.

"Will you make an attempt to hold your place on the budget board?" he was asked.

"I have not thought very much about it," was his reply. "I have been home only a day or two and have hardly given it a thought."

MAY NAME JOHN DRURY FOR HEALTH BOARD

A considerable amount of pressure is being brought to bear upon Mayor John J. Donovan for the appointment of Hon. John E. Drury as a member of the board of health to succeed Fisher H. Pearson, whose term of office expired on January 1, 1924, and who now is serving as a hold-over. The mayor has not intimated publicly what his action will be, but it is understood he thinks a great deal of Mr. Drury's qualifications for the position.

Mr. Drury served as a member of the board for a number of years, but lost his place in 1922 when Mayor Brown named a new board. He would again take a position on the board if the opportunity presented itself.

Lowell Chapter No. 5 Will Honor Distinguished War Veteran-Physician

Dr. Patrick I. Kelly Visits Lowell to Inspect Disabled Veterans' Organization

Disabled veterans of the World War living in Lowell and surrounding towns are to attend a rally in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock this evening, at the ringing summons of patriotic leaders of Lowell chapter No. 5, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, who are to tender a reception to a distinguished war veteran-physician, now engaged in rehabilitation work among World War veterans throughout the New England district under the auspices of the United States Veterans' bureau.

Dr. Patrick I. Kelly, veteran of the fighting 101st Infantry, M.D., in the famous 26th "Yankee" division, who served as private in the ranks in the World War, is the visitor who is making his first trip to Lowell to officially inspect the disabled veterans organization and meet all disabled veterans who are seeking to adjust compensation claims.

The veterans bureau's authorized representative is now liaison officer in charge of adjusting all claims for Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and his visit tonight is also expected to bring out several hundred unaffiliated soldiers of the great war, who are having trouble in adjusting claims for government aid.

Commander Geary expects every member of Lowell chapter to attend

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN OIL DEALS AROUND TIME RESERVES LEASED

L. F. Bond Who Examined Records of Brokers' Offices Says Atty. General Daugherty, Sec. Slomp, Senators Curtis and Elkins and Others Involved

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Attorney General Daugherty, Senators Curtis of Kansas and Elkins of West Virginia, and C. Bascom Slomp, now secretary to President Coolidge, were among the public officials who had transactions in Sinclair or Doheny oil stock around the time of the leases of the naval oil reserves. Slomp at that time was a member of the house. Other representatives dealing in the stocks included A. B. House, Kentucky; Wells (Hoody-kontz) of West Virginia; J. H. Hines of Ohio; and Thomas J. Ryan of New York.

The names were disclosed before the senate oil committee today, when it called to the stand Louis F. Bond, a federal trade commission accountant and who has examined the books of a number of brokerage houses.

Attorney General Daugherty bought 100 shares of Pan-American (the Doheny Co., that leased the California reserve) and sold at a profit of $543,500.

BUSY COUNCIL SESSION TONIGHT

Conference on Budget to Follow Business of Regular Meeting

Hearing Scheduled on Petition of Fireman George A. Crawford

It looks like a busy session of the city council tonight, with an early morning adjournment a possibility. In addition to the business which will be transacted at the regular meeting, the council will meet as a general committee on appropriations and discuss the 1924 budget with a representative of the mayor, members of the budget and audit commission, the city auditor and 30 department heads.

Two important hearings also are scheduled for this evening. The first is on petition of the C.Y.M.C., that the city vote to erect a comfort station and shower-bath building on the North common, a matter that already has been taken up with the board of park commissioners by Councilor Eugene A. Fitzgerald and members of the Broadway club, and the second is the hearing asked for by Fireman George A. Crawford.

Oliver A. Cork, of 344 Varnum avenue, engineer for the Ames Worsted company in Howe street, was killed shortly before 8 o'clock this morning when he fell into the water wheel pit at the engine house of the mill and was caught on the main shaft of the wheel and whirled to instant death.

The exact circumstances of the accident are unknown as Mr. Cork was alone at the time. It is believed, however, that while about his duties the victim slipped on the ice-covered steps.

HOSPITAL INVESTIGATION

Special Council Committee Not in Harmony on Matter of Engaging Counsel

The question of whether the special city council committee will vote to engage counsel to assist it in its investigations of the isolation hospital will be the principal matter of discussion at a meeting of the committee at 7:30 o'clock this evening, and at present there seems to be a division of opinion within the committee as to whether such an expense is necessary or advisable.

Mellon and Weeks to Be Questioned About Contract With Aircraft Corp.

Haynes and Blair in Connection With Means' Charge That He "Got" Mellon

Lawyer in Film "Deal," Prison Superintendent and Others Called

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Subpoenas were issued today for Secretaries Mellon and Weeks by the senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty.

The two secretaries are to be questioned about the government contract with the Standard Aircraft Corporation, in connection with which Gaston B. Means previously testified he accepted $100,000 for the late Jess W. Smith to stop further legal action.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair also were summoned, presumably for questioning about Means' assertion that he "got" Secretary Mellon in an investigation of the issuing of permits for withdrawals of whiskey.

Alfred R. Union, a lawyer, named in the alleged film "deal," also was subpoenaed as was W. H. Volaw, superintendent of federal prisons, and a relative by marriage of President Harding.

Among others subpoenaed were: Assistant Attorney General Crim, Anderson and Johnson; James A. Finch, pardon attorney of the department of justice, and Elmer Dover, former assistant secretary of the treasury.

William A. Orr, former secretary to ex-Governor Whitman, one of the alleged parties to the film "deal," was the first witness today in the Daugherty investigation.

ADVERSE REPORT ON CHARITY ORDINANCE PREDICTED

Majority of Members of Ordinance Committee, Which Meets Tonight, Said to Oppose Division of Charity Department as Proposed—Sadler Will Fight For It

One of the most important pieces of legislation of the year will be before the ordinance committee of the city council when it meets tonight at 8 o'clock to consider the proposal to divide the charity department into two separate departments and establish the Chelmsford Street hospital as a definite unit, with a superintendent at its head.

The probability of an adverse report by the committee on this ordinance is great, for the five members, Councilor Frank K. Stearns, David Dixon and Arthur Genest are said to be in opposition to it, leaving Councilors John J. McPadden and John W. Daly in the minority if they should vote in favor of it.

In case the ordinance is reported adversely by the committee at the council meeting at 8 o'clock, Councilor Frederick A. Sadler, who is pushing the ordinance, undoubtedly will call for it and urge a vote by the council.

In connection with this ordinance it has been persistently rumored that it should pass the mayor would nominate John J. O'Connell as hospital superintendent, with the added possibility of presenting the name of Councilor Frank K. Stearns to succeed Joseph A. Gernley as superintendent of charities. The appointment of Joseph Maguire to succeed himself as an election commissioner would follow in this event, it is believed.

OPIUM PROBLEM IN AMERICA

Mrs. Gilson Tells of Situation Here Since Impounding of Mail Steamer

Last Talk in Interesting Series on "Current Events" Given Today

A most interesting talk on the opium situation in America since the impounding of the Royal Mail steamer Orduna in New York recently, together with the relation of her personal experiences while traveling through Czechoslovakia, was given by Mrs. Gladys V. Gilson in the last talk of her series on "Current Events" given before the Lowell Guild members in Middlesex hall this morning.

"The impounding of the Orduna, the property of the oldest steamship company in the world, is a most important factor in the enforcing of the prohibition and narcotic trade," stated Mrs. Gilson.

In his twenties, Washington, with 700 men, successfully defended a 350 mile frontier for two years. He fearlessly ranged the whole field on horseback, a conspicuous target for Indian bullets.

2 HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS IN VAUDEVILLE

Pupils of the high school turned their hand to vaudeville yesterday with excellent results at performances given in the afternoon and evening in the Irish auditorium before audiences made up of students and parents. After the evening performance there was general dancing in Columbia hall. The show was given for the benefit of the school orchestra and the money netted will allow the purchase of uniforms for its members.

Seven numbers were included in the program and each well merited the applause accorded it. After an overture by the orchestra playing under the direction of Mr. E. O. Bunt, Miss Marie White gave an Irish jig to music furnished by Miss Marion Ryan at the piano. It was lively stepping and perfectly in tune with the day.

Boys carefully trained in the school gymnasium by Donald MacLachlan and Arthur Lynch gave a tumbling act under the former's supervision. Many clever tricks were put over in good shape. The boys who took part were Emmett Ryan, Donald Johnson, Thomas Sullivan, Francis Riley, Chas. Churchill, Alton Jelley, Robert Coughlin, Errington Bricham and Gen. Chulada.

"A Trick of the Trade" gave excellent opportunity to enjoy the acting of Maurice Freedman and Miss Dorothy Russell, who handled the bright lines of the skit with ease and really gave an excellent interpretation of the plot.

A group dance came next, with 15 or more girls dressed as "Dirt Dancers." The costumes were Dutch, including wooden shoes and the dancing done as the girls chased out the last speck of dirt won't attract recognition. Taking part were the Misses Antoinette Teagasc, Minnie Chase, Elizabeth Fleming, Elizabeth Page, Yvonne Freeman, Irene Hailwich, Louise Deane, Irene Williams, Alice Schoulin, Frances Gault, Eileen Markham, Vera Blaisdell, Beatrice Berton and Gertrude Donohoe.

Miss Jessica Allen deserves all praise for her Spanish dance which was done in charming costume. It was a solo number and not an easy one to do even before friends, but Miss Allen was more than equal to it and was recalled several times. Miss Ryan again accompanied.

If a headline is selected it is "Trial by Jury," one of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas, which closed the program. It has not been given locally for some time, although still meeting the popular fancy as evidenced by the applause which was spontaneous from time to time. In addition to a large chorus the opera was adequately staged and gave a number of well known school boys and girls opportunity to use their excellent voices. Starring in the cast were Roland Whitworth, Miss Jean D. Chapman, Arthur Parrot, Raymond Gould, Robert Timmins, Joseph Casey and Miss Alice Sheehan.

It is unfortunate that every use of the Irish auditorium brings forth the same criticism of wholly inadequate acoustic properties. Unless words are spoken most carefully and distinctly they drift back into the hall, nothing more or less than a jumble of sound, absolutely meaningless. Such was the case many times yesterday, although every ear was being strained to the utmost.

"LEAP YEAR SOCIAL" AT HIGHLAND HALL

Highland hall was the scene of a merry dancing party last evening, billed as a "Leap Year social," and arranged by members of Ladies auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The dance hall was prettily decorated in green and white in honor of St. Patrick's day anniversary. Favors were distributed to the dancers during the evening and refreshments served at intermission at 10:30.

The committee of arrangements: Mrs. Catherine Frawley, general manager; Mrs. Rose Coleman, assistant general manager; Anna Quinn, door director; The committee on arrangements: Mrs. Catherine Frawley, general manager; Mrs. Rose Coleman, assistant general manager; Mrs. Ida Hart, treasurer; Mrs. Lilla Pearson, Mrs. Catherine Cavanaugh, Mrs. Edna Chandler, Miss Mary Tauson, Miss Mary McGuire, Mrs. Elizabeth McBride, Mrs. Sarah McBride, Miss Mary McBride and Mrs. Catherine Terreault.

CHELMSFORD GRANGE

Chefmsford grange will hold a bi-monthly meeting on Thursday evening, starting at 8 o'clock in Grange hall. It will be "Lecturer's night," with the program in charge of Mrs. Lecturer Mrs. Frank E. McMaster. The entertainment will include humorous sketches, musical numbers and readings. Applications for membership in the spring classes will also be received.

Sage Tea Beautifies and Darkens Hair

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, say, well-known druggists here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks don't want to be around, so get busy with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—M.V.

BLAUO THEATRE
 Followers of Boot Gibson's "galloping" progress through so many popular western pictures have a surprise in store for them at the Blauo theatre where Gibson is appearing in "Doubling Dealing," a rural comedy drama. It is the first role of such a character that the famous cowboy has ever essayed and it shows that he is a comedian of note. Gibson is presented as a droll youth who has inherited a small town drugstore and a heavy mortgage. Most of the visits to the store are made by Erich Johnson, who holds the mortgage. Business is terrible, but the youth finds some consolation in a book entitled "How To Be Successful," which he reads during his spare moments. Most of his moments are spent, as he has little opportunity to apply the principles of the book he studies so carefully.

BROADCASTING STATION
 Nashua, N. H., went on the map last night as having a radio broadcasting station, when news and music was broadcast from 127, an amateur station operated by Raymond Gallagher and Ardent Jones. The station operates on a 150-meter wave length and will be in the air several nights each week broadcasting local news and entertainments by Nashua talent.

THE STRAND THEATRE
 Sir Hall Calne's gripping story of the Italy of today, "The Eternal City," is the leading attraction on the program at the Strand theatre the first part of this week. A second feature is a Charlie Chaplin comedy, "The Adventurer," while the program is rounded out by a timely news reel.

"The Eternal City" as a moving picture, is even more interesting than as a book. A George Fitzmaurice production, filmed in ancient Rome and the country in the vicinity of this historic city that has changed but slightly in the past two centuries, the leading characters were chosen for the parts carefully as to type and fill their parts well.

The cast is all-star and includes among others Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Karl Littel, Montagu Love and Richard Bennett. The minor parts are taken by actors and actresses from Italian moving picture studios whose faithful reproduction of the types of Italian described in the book added greatly to the enjoyment of the picture.

The story is of the love of Roma, daughter of Dr. Roselli who, prior to the World war, had written a book which he believed would end all conflicts between great nations, and David Ross, whose parents are unknown, but who has been reared by a Roman professional beggar. David is attracted to Roma, her mother admires whose love is returned.

Then, when manhood dawns before David, Italy enters the World war and he is forced to choose between his country and his love—and chooses for the first. His enlistment in Italy's army brings about the death of Dr. Roselli and Roma's love, she believes turns to hate. David is reported killed and Roma goes to the Eternal City to study art under the patronage of a profiteering baron, who schemes for her heart while he encourages her study of art.

The war comes to an end and David returns, to find Roma gone from her home. Discouraged, he goes to Rome to join the ranks of Mussolini's black-shirted battalions who are out to save Italy from the Reds.

From this point on the story speeds in a thrilling climax which threatens for a few minutes to be a discouragement, but which finally brings the two lovers together in a happy ending.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

"The Stranger," a Paramount production adapted from the novel by John Galsworthy, is the picture attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. For it seemed last night that it is one of the best pictures ever shown at the theatre. The leading roles are handled by Tully Marshall and Betty Compson, supported by Richard Dix, Lee Tracy, Robert Wright, Marion Skinner and Mary Jane Irving.

The story is one of a mill girl who turns show girl and gets "in bad" because of the desire of the show owner to have her entertain his prospective victims. The show owner runs a foul of the law and is jailed. The heroine falls in love with a poor but honest nondescript. The showman gets out of jail and attacks the heroine. In a tussle with her lover, the showman gets a tumble that results in his death. "The Stranger" is arrested for murder and drops dead on the scaffold just before the hanging. This makes the future look bright for the heroine and her lover, who live happily ever after.

ACADEMY STOCK PLAYERS
 Manager London R. Bartholomew is expected to make announcements tomorrow as to the advance ticket sale for "Tala Bede," the first attraction for the three-week stock season which will start next Monday. The Academy stock has been recently redecorated and placed in most presentable shape. The ticket office will probably be open tomorrow, although definite notice will be given in the advertising column.

The stock return is at the request of hundreds of former Lowell Opera House patrons who greatly missed the loss of the Opera House players after the disastrous fire of six weeks ago.

BREATHLESS AFTER SLIGHT EXERTION

Mrs. Sexton's Case Well Illustrates How an Anemic Condition Can Be Corrected

"I had been more or less anemic from girlhood," says Mrs. William Sexton, of No. 82 Kenyon avenue, Pawtucket, R. I., "and after my boy was born I got run down and did not seem to be able to pick up. My blood was poor and thin, my appetite was not good and food did not agree with me. I had no ambition and my housework tired me out completely. I was pale and sallow, had no color in my lips and became short of breath when I went upstairs or walked a short distance. I had sick headaches, my circulation was poor and I was cold much of the time. Through relatives and friends in England who had been helped by them I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After the third box I felt stronger and had a better color. I could eat heartily and my circulation improved. I did not have the chilly sensations. I began to get on with the pills and they built up my health. I regained my strength so that I did not tire easily. I have great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and tonic."

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned. Although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 335-K, Marcellus Avenue, Manchester, N. H., better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life, a limb, a least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

FAVOR DANCE AND SOCIAL IN TOWN HALL

One of the most successful of the St. Patrick's night parties in the city was the favor dance and social conducted under auspices of St. John's mission in the town hall. Green and white streamers of crepe paper were hung from the windows and electric chandeliers. The slake was a mass of green flowers with a white lattice work fence as background. Ice cream and cake were served at intermission.

The general arrangements committee, chairman, Walter McMahon; Paul Pratt, Daniel E. Haley, Ephraim Ayotte, and Miss Dorothy Revere were adequate. The decorations were the work of Mrs. Walter McMahon and Mrs. Paul Pratt, who also had the favors in charge, which were distributed during the grand march by Misses Blanche Ayotte and Gladys Kemp.

The following committee served beer and cake: Mrs. Paul Pratt, Mrs. Walter McMahon, Mrs. John Writley, Mrs. B. C. Hazen and Miss Catherine Green.

Water swimmers and divers, who do things while submerged that some folks find difficult to do in the open air. She can talk and sing and at one place during her act, remains under water for exactly two minutes.

Try holding your breath that long. The feature of the picture, "The Magic of the Magic," is one of the strongest screen stories ever told and brings back Miss Pauline Frederick, one of the best liked of the most popular stars.

Lead is largely used in glazing pottery and porcelain.

HELD DANCING PARTY

An enjoyable St. Patrick's night dancing party was conducted by the Stratford last night in Highland club hall and was well attended. The affair was one of the last three dancing parties to be conducted by this organization this season.

The world's production of lead exceeds 1,000,000 tons a year.

MILL OPERATIVE FOUND HANGING FROM TREE

Hanging by the neck from a rope attached to the branch of a large tree in the woods on the Crosby farm, in New Boston village, the dead body of Constant Jonekers, the Collinsville mill operative, who mysteriously disappeared from his home on Sunday, March 2, was found yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Alling has declared it to be suicide by hanging. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Amodee Archambault and Sons, this city.

The suicide was discovered by two young men, Hugh Quennean of Primrose Hill, Bracon, and Alfred Sayers of Lowell, who had been searching the territory in the vicinity of the Arthur W. Colburn farm under the impression that a reward had been offered for a solution of the strange case of disappearance. Upon finding the body, the young men promptly notified Chief of Police Rort A. Clun, who in turn notified the medical examiner.

Jonekers was a native of France and leaves a wife and 7-year-old daughter. He was formerly employed as a loomfixer at the Beaver Brook mills and had recently complained that he was losing his eyesight.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL BY BLIND COMPOSER

Joseph A. Marshall, blind composer and pianist, gave a delightful recital at Notre Dame academy yesterday afternoon, before the community of sisters who have charge of the school. The originality of his compositions was marked in numerous interpretations, while the recital in general was a wealth of melodic grace and beauty.

Among his interpretations was the Laurentian suite, comprising a series of sketches written after the composer had visited that region. Included in the suite are: "In the Forest," "The Village Fete," "Trifling on the St. Lawrence," "The Wayside Shrine" and "Pontifical March on the Feast of St. Anne."

The program also included numerous light fantastic compositions and the heavier, more emphatic selections, including "Polonaise Militaire," "Moonlight Reverie," portraying the cool and calm of a moonlight night, was artistically given by Mr. Marshall.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Speech-Making Tour in Connection With Fourth Degree Exemplification Here

A corps of speakers under Past District Deputy Charles J. Landers will address K. of C. councils in Marlboro and Worcester, Andover and other places in the next week or ten days in connection with the big exemplification of the fourth degree in Lowell on May 4, which will be the biggest affair in K. of C. circles in New England this year. The arrangements for the Lowell degree handled here by a large committee are being seconded by a committee in Boston headed by Louis Watson, master of the fourth degree in this section, and Michael J. Downey. The tremendous amount of detail is being handled efficiently and already plans are beginning to assume definite shape. The Boston men are to confer from time to time with the Lowell men.

Today advices were received from various parts of the state that big delegations will come to Lowell on the day of the degree. The meeting of the general committee tonight, and the regular meeting of the P. D. assembly on Thursday night show that locally the preliminary arrangements are going at high speed.

It was stated in Boston yesterday that Charles P. McAlevy, master of the fourth degree in Rhode Island, had been named a member of the supreme board of directors to take the place of Charles L. Foyner of Chicago, deceased. This makes two members of the board of directors in New England. William C. Prout, state deputy, being the other; the latter comes to Lowell to address Lowell council next month. Messrs. McAlevy and Prout, with other supreme officials of the order, will be here in May.

The annual banquet of the state council, K. of C. on April 26 will be a brilliant event, and Lowell will send a big delegation.

HIGHLAND UNION BROTHERHOOD

Supper was served to members and guests at 6:30. President John A. Lamberlin opened the business meeting. It was announced that a "Ladies' Night" would be conducted by the brotherhood next month, date to be announced. Pastor Jackman's evening topic was "The Creator and Creations." A radio concert followed the address. Last night's supper committee included Guy M. McCallum, William M. Raylinton and John H. Preston, assisted by Elwood Peters and Clarence McCallum.

BY VISSER-HOOFT
Explorer and Mountain Climber
STOCKHOLM, Mar. 18. It is unknown regions beckon you, if you would walk where a white man never walked, you have plenty of opportunity.
The greater part of the world has been mapped and equipped with tourist hotels, pays taxes, buys flowers, but there still are regions to lure the explorer.
One of the most important of these regions is in central Asia, where the great mountain ranges, the Himalayas and the Kara-Korum, run parallel. The first is widely known, but the Kara-Korum, rival of the Himalayas, has been seldom visited.

Coolie Transports
On the Kara-Korum ranges are the greatest glaciers on earth. The choport peak is 28,250 feet high, only 883 feet lower than Mount Everest.

Many great sections of the Kara-Korum mountains have never been visited by white men. Even the natives feared the mountains with superstitious fear and dare not venture up the steep slopes.
My wife and I have just returned after spending four months in the Kara-Korum mountains. We climbed to a height of 17,000 feet, climbed up intense cold and the purity of the air forced us to turn back.
Travel was most difficult. Our horses and yaks had utmost difficulty in crossing the high mountain passes and the swiftly running streams. At the 15,000-foot elevation we had to leave our pack animals, for they could climb no higher.
In the border-strewn valleys and on the glaciers it was often nearly impossible to find a suitable place to pitch our tents.

Natives Fearful
For seven days, while in the southern Sastu mountains, we were forced to stay within our tents because of the intense cold. Had we ventured outside them we would have been frozen.
The country—even the valleys—looks execution.
We found it most difficult to deal with the natives, the Ladakhi, who closely resemble their Tibetan neighbors. Though they are good-natured and honest, they are in constant fear of devils. They were afraid to venture out on the glaciers.
One day, as we were climbing a dangerous place on a deep ice-slope, two of the coolies were seized with a sudden fit of madness.

It was only with difficulty that we managed to hold them and prevent them from leaping over the precipice. They were suffering from the effects of the rarified air.
"YOU CAN'T GET AWAY WITH IT"
"You Can't Get Away With It" is the expressive title of a story by Gouverneur Morris, which William Fox has pictured for the screen. To be shown at the Biograph Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The story pictures the problem of a wealthy girl who found herself left destitute, facing a world that demanded either her ability or her beauty. She tried to prove her ability and found that she had none. So she gave her beauty to her employer and learned that "You Can't Get Away With It." Percy Marmont, star in "If Winter Comes," leads in this picture, with Betty Bouton playing the role of the girl. They have the able support of Maureen O'Connor, Carlotta Tennant, Grace Morris, Clarissa Selwyn and Charles Cruz.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN RECOVERS QUICKLY

Suffering From Stomach,
Liver and Kidneys, Conquered by Dreck

Mr. MARY W. Stockwell of Browns Block, who has lived in Lowell for more than fifty years, who is one of the few veterans of the Civil War still living, says:
"For the past ten years I have been crippled by pains and aches. Food that I ate laid in my stomach. My head, indigestion doubled me up with cramps. Gas bloated my stomach, making me belch. Acid risings burned up my insides and made me gasp for breath. I went through this ordeal after every meal that I ate.
"I felt tired and worn out. I thought I was about at the end of my string. My kidneys bothered me so that I couldn't get a good night's sleep. My stomach was clogged up, my system, sapping its strength.

"One day I learned this suffering when Dreck came to my rescue. The marvelous remedy has brought me back to life, giving me health and strength. I want everyone who is suffering as I suffer to take advantage of the wonderful restorative powers of this great remedy."
Dreck is made from the pure, unadulterated juices of 12 remarkable plants, roots, herbs and leaves. Scientifically blended by the Dreck Co., Laboratories of Baltimore, they act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood, and tend to relieve constipation, headaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, dizziness, heart fluttering, gas on stomach and other troubles.
Dreck is being specially introduced by Green's Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

THE REINSTATEMENT OF PADDOCK ENDS "WAR"

NEW YORK, March 18. (By the Associated Press.) Reinstatement of Chas. W. Paddock, sensational California sprinter, by the Amateur Athletic Union, has closed for the present at least, a bitter war among athletic governing organizations. For nearly a year, the stocky western flier has been the storm center of a controversy that developed international complications but harmony has been restored, although belief with factional interests submerged in the common cause of Olympic preparation for 1924.
Differences existing for some time between the A.A.U., American track and field governing body, and interests represented by the National Collegiate Athletic Association were brought to a climax last May when Paddock, refusing a diploma of the A.A.U., forbidding foreign competition by American athletes, participated in a student's track meet at Paris. This step brought about Paddock's automatic suspension from the A.A.U. and brought into direct conflict the rival governing factions, both here and abroad.
Just when the controversy seemed at its height, Frank Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, president of the N.C.A.A., unexpectedly advised Paddock to apply for A.A.U. reinstatement and thus paved the way for his solution.
Paddock, who now plans a campaign to fit himself for the American Olympic team, holds five world's sprint records, outright and is world holder of a mile.

Mothers You Can Prevent Children From Taking Cold

Next Time They Come in Wet and "Sniffing"
Rub This Vapor Salve
Over Throat and Chest

"When children come in from play with wet feet, hands and heads like lumps of ice, you feel sure that they are 'in for a cold.'"
But the next time try Vicks. At bedtime rub this vaporizing salve well in over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth.
The body heat, releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors, and these vapors go directly to the air passages, stimulating the mucous membrane to repel germ attacks.
At the same time Vicks increases the circulation of the blood through the chest region, thus helping to prevent any suggestion of developing.
Applied in time, Vicks will prevent many colds from getting a start and its use doesn't disturb the child's digestion as constant internal dosing is so apt to do.

How does your market get its meat?

Day in and day out, the retail shop has the cuts of meat that you desire. The service is so regular that people take it for granted.

How the meat got there is an interesting story that you will like to read.

Back of your retailer is a large organization. This organization buys the live stock offered by the producers, transforms it into clean, wholesome meat, and then distributes the meat to thousands of retailers in cities, towns, and villages all over the country.

But how?
Larger cities have Swift & Company branch houses, which always have a supply of fresh and cured meats in their coolers.

The smaller cities and towns receive regular supplies from refrigerator cars shipped direct from plants.

The story of these direct shipments is interesting.

Swift & Company's 1924 Year Book tells this story on page 33 and also gives many other interesting facts about the packing industry. A copy is yours, free, if you will send for it.

BOLSHEVISTIC MENACE

It would be a serious mistake to gloat over the revelations made before the investigating committees at Washington from day to day. The whole matter is one of which every American must feel utterly ashamed. To find high officials of the national government charged with corruption, even where it was their official duty to promote honest government and the strict administration of justice, must be regretted even by their political opponents.

It is such conduct and corruption in high places that give encouragement to the advocates of radical policies and even Bolshevism. It is to be hoped that no such dangerous tendencies will be countenanced by anybody having the slightest regard for the principles of American liberty. If corruption has crept into the government, there is a remedy and there will soon be an opportunity for the people to express their sense of disgust at the ballot box over the present state of affairs. They will have an opportunity to drive the republican party from power and to elect a democratic administration that will reflect the will of the people and carry out the principles for which they were elected. Fortunately, the national election is not far off and it is highly probable that there will be a clean sweep of the republican party from power and the selection of a democratic administration to restore an honest and progressive administration of the nation's business. There is danger of a third party entering the field and defeating the will of the people by a triangular contest; but this possibility will be greatly lessened if the democratic party will show good generalship in nominating a strong and winning ticket.

THREATENED BLOW TO BOSTON

It seems that the port of Boston is in for another discrimination in the matter of rates, provided an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take effect on May 20 be carried out. That order would put into operation Section 28 of the Merchant Marine act of 1920, which gives preferential rates to American flag steamers on freight from the Middle West. The shipments in foreign vessels which leave Boston would be prohibitive. This rate from the Middle West to New York is seven cents per hundred pounds lower than the rate to Boston.

It is objected that there is no adequate service by American ships from Boston to foreign ports and hence the business which will go to the ports that have such service. New York in this respect has the advantage and this provision, if carried out, would ruin the trade from Boston. It is very strange that these preferential rates are applied so as to discriminate against Boston and in favor of ports farther south.

This is a matter that seriously concerns New England which has already suffered irreparable loss and injury through discrimination in freight rates, despite the fact that the New England states are well represented in the government at Washington.

JUSTICE FOR MAILMEN

The mailman has first claim to the title, old Reliable. Rain or shine, he comes plodding in. Few of us appreciate his services and their importance in our lives.

Every second of day and night, nearly 400 letters are delivered by the carriers—about 115 a year for every man, woman and child. The total is more than 12 billion pieces of mail a year.

The mailman's service is too personal and human to be told fully in statistics. But some of the figures announced at the last letter carriers' convention should make the public and the national government realize that postmen are not getting a fair deal.

The average carrier, who plods patiently from house to house and office to office with a burden as heavy as 20 pounds in the leather pouch over his left shoulder, has to walk an average of 15 miles a day.

Each week he wears out three pairs of socks beyond repair. Every three weeks, he has to have his shoes half-soled and heeled. Daily he delivers from 100 to 200 letters.

But yourself in his place, mentally, and you realize that his is a difficult, laborious job.

The carrier's task is typical of the general postal service. Their income has for long been the lowest of living. At present, the highest salary that can be reached by a mail carrier is $1800 a year, ranging down to $1400. And other branches of the postoffice service may correspondingly low.

The mailman is not getting a fair deal. It is the duty of congress, which appropriates money for public expenditures, to grant to postal employees a liberal salary increase long since overdue.

ST. LAWRENCE COMMISSION

President Coolidge has appointed a commission to consider the question of making the St. Lawrence river navigable from the ocean to the Great Lakes.

In turning the matter over to Secretary Hoover, President Coolidge gives his reasons for appointing the commission, stating that this project of opening the Great Lakes to ocean-going ships and for the development of the great power resources of the St. Lawrence river in behalf of both the American and Canadian people, has long been recognized by many millions of our people as one of great public utility. It is claimed that the proposed development of the St. Lawrence river would be a vast benefit to both to New England and to Canada.

The matter was first brought up in congress in 1887 and since then it has been the subject of repeated communications between the governments of United States and Canada. It is now that both governments now favor a complete survey of the river and a report upon the practicability of the scheme. If that great river were opened to the Great Lakes as proposed, it would vastly increase the overseas trade for the Atlantic seaports north of New York. It would also be a great benefit to New England and its power resources might also be made available to some of the New England manufacturing cities. If we cannot have a navigable Merrimack, then let us have the St. Lawrence. It is a project we believe in developing all our water power resources, and if our government had an eye single to the American interest, it would develop the Merrimack before the St. Lawrence project.

A thought: The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat one's self. Bailey.

Look Like Gentlemen: At a hotel in a popular holiday resort, during certain periods of the year, the manager was somewhat surprised on arriving at the hotel not to see any brother clerks, and asked the clerk if there were any in residence. "Yes, sir," he replied; "but they don't wear clerical clothes; they just look like gentlemen."

Right and Left: Pleasant had arrived home late from the office, and his wife was not the least of a woman to let a thing like that pass unnoticed. "Why didn't you catch the 7:30 train home tonight, Herbert?" she demanded. "Well, you see, I had to go to the office," he replied. "I asked a party from which platform my train started, and he said if I turned to the left, I'd be right. I know that, but I didn't know I'd be right, and I was left."

First Come First Served: The elevator boy was green at the job. Two passengers, a man and a woman, got on at the street door. "Ninth," said the latter once they were fairly started. "Sixth," said the man. The car sped by the sixth floor and stopped at the ninth. On the way back the man said: "Was in thunder didn't you stop at the sixth floor? The sixth floor is lower than the ninth. I know that," said the elevator boy, "but the lady said 'ninth' first."

Next Thing to It: "You say Charlie Billinger is located on this block?" said Brown. "Right across the street," responded Jones. "Well, well. In school we all thought Charlie would turn out to be an orator," continued Brown. "At any rate he's a thumper, the next best thing." "How do you make out that being a thumper is the next best thing to being an orator?" "From his sign read it," and the other man read it.

Spouting a Specialty: C. Billinger, Timmer Spouting a Specialty. If you can "blow in" all about you a medley of discordant sounds. If you can tell when asked what you are getting. While Laura plays loudly pounds, if you can turn a dial and get a star. And understand a word that is announced. While Ma is telephoning to Eliza. How near new dress is made and where it's finished.

If you "come in" a lecture on Home Cooking. And don't eat pancakes mixed with sugar peas. While Tom runs in with half a dozen others. And want to know if you'll fix his car. If you can tell one station from another. And not get KD mixed with Kalamazoo. While Jack to Jim is threatening: "I'll tell Mother!" And Mother says: "There, boys, now that will do."

If you can hear a concert in Chicago. An clear and plain as if it were in view. While life are playing Indian in the kitchen. Yetting "We ain't got no bananas" too. If nightly you can pull in Sunny Cuba. And not let which you will there to get a drink. If you can be disturbed and still look pleasant. Be called a "bug" and still have brains to think. If you can find amusement in your radio. And use a "speaker" for your neighbor's joy. You'll make your wife at least a "Radio widow." And what more, you'll be a Radio Man Boy.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN: Leaders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars announced that another "Poppy Day" campaign is under way, with the coming Memorial Day the time for the distribution of poppies in the work of collecting money gifts to aid the work of the V. of F. W. everywhere.

The Sun has received from headquarters of this war veterans' organization, Kansas City, a letter bringing the information that President Coolidge has placed his seal of approval on the annual poppy campaign conducted Memorial Day each year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In his letter to General Lloyd M. Brett, commander-in-chief of the V. of F. W. and adjutant general of its district of Columbia, the president says:

"It is a pleasure to comply with your request for a word of endorsement and approval of the poppy campaign which the Veterans of Foreign Wars are organizing. I note with particular interest that the poppies are to be distributed by the V. of F. W. and that this movement to perpetuate and strengthen the national sentiment of obligation to those who served their country in the World War will be eminently successful."

You are entitled to know why you are asked to pay more for your Coffee—Here are the facts

Today the world's available surplus of coffee is at a dangerously low point. Demand has overrun production, and the present price increase is the result.

The world's consumption of coffee has been steadily growing, while coffee production has fallen off. There have been poor years—years when production ran high in quantity, but low in quality. Last year's crop was large, but badly rain damaged. This year's crop—which will soon come into the market—is disappointingly small.

Then, too, for some years after the war money in the coffee growing countries was much depreciated. Now it is recovering and the increase in value means that the United States dollar buys less raw coffee than it did heretofore.

In the coffee industry, just as in any other, when available supplies are low, prices increase.

And when the price of raw coffee advances, there are just two things the coffee importer can do—

He can maintain quality, and increase the selling price proportionately—

Or he can maintain the selling price—at the sacrifice of quality—by using those grades of coffee which come within his price limit.

For the House of Quinby, the first way to meet the present increase in raw coffee prices was the only way. The House of Quinby was founded on the "quality" principle.

Steadfastly, during all the years of business growth, we have held to our early determination never to allow any consideration of price to lower the quality-standard of La Touraine Coffee.

And so, now that supplies of high grade raw coffee are scarce enough to cause a rise in prices, the House of Quinby has unhesitatingly bought the best—considering the higher price we have had to pay as "quality insurance" for La Touraine Coffee.

There is no way to evade or combat the law of supply and demand. We cannot hope to control the price of raw coffee—

But we can control the quality of La Touraine Coffee, and the present price — 52 cents a pound—is the reflection of our determination to maintain La Touraine quality under all conditions — to give the people of America what we have always given them in the past, and what they have learned to expect — the best.

baggage collection service—not for a minute into they don't."

During the winter months, garbage is supposed to be collected in the Hoyt avenue and Oakland section of the city twice a week. It has been collected twice a week, as a general rule, only the city garbage men don't visit some of the homes in that section of the city but once a week.

Weather conditions are not favorable. You can't blame them, possibly.

But another collecting agency jumps in rather mysteriously but sprightly when word gets around that the city garbage collectors have failed to make their week-end rounds on Fridays and Oakland citizens aren't kicking a bit about it.

Last Saturday, there were no week-end collections in certain districts of the Oakland by the regular garbage men on the city pay rolls. That made but one collection on Monday. At the end of the week, piles on the sidewalk were running over after the Monday collections.

Late Saturday afternoon, then, just before sunset and when the shadows were slowly creeping over Fort Hill and environs, there was a furor in the vicinity of Hoyt avenue and especially in the neighborhood of 132.

"Here comes the garbage men, ma!" yelled a youngster playing on the sidewalk.

Mother was tickled tremendously. The imitation garbage holders on the back piazza three steps up, were filled to capacity and two bread pans held the overflow.

The appearance of the new garbage collecting brigade was unannounced and created a real nice sensation. But on Saturday afternoon—at 5:45 o'clock—"Gee whizz!" said Tommy on the front piazza steps. "Think of 'em, the garbage men, coming around at this hour of a Saturday!"

But they weren't city employees. They were strangers. And they knew their business. Starting at Fort Hill park entrance, with a tired-looking but husky horse attached to a light delivery wagon and high upon skanky wheels and the wagon containing three barrels—one of them a lime barrel out of date—the three unknown boys, working fast, trotted into every back yard and found the garbage cans.

They probably knew the piles would be filled to the brim and the collectors carried wooden pails and emptied the piazza contents into the receptacles, returning to the high wagon and handing them to a youth waiting in the cold by the barrels. Come again boys!

FUND FOR RELIEF OF GERMAN CHILDREN

A short business meeting of the Lowell committee of General Allen's fund for the relief of German children was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the chamber of commerce rooms, at which plans for the local drive for funds were discussed.

In the absence of Hon. Perry D. Thompson, William N. Goodell served as temporary chairman. William E. Trotter, secretary of the committee, reported on a conference held with New England Director Sprague last Sunday, concerning the method of collecting funds in this city. As a result of this conference, Mr. Trotter reported that the most successful plan, in his estimation, would be to hold a mass meeting to awaken interest at which Congressman John Jacob Rogers and Edward A. Filene would be invited to speak before making a drive for funds.

Plans for the campaign were not gone into in detail owing to the fact that several members of the committee had to leave the meeting early to keep other engagements. At adjournment it was voted to hold another meeting one week from Wednesday, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

In working on plans for the campaign the committee realizes that a certain amount of prejudice will have to be overcome and it will endeavor, at the mass meeting, through the mail and through the press, to show, by figures and facts gathered by Americans, that the German children are starving and need the help of America, which has never turned a deaf ear to the pleading of a suffering nation, whether a former enemy or a friend.

The following statement of facts by the American Friends society, better known as the Quakers, is of interest: Five million German school children, or 50 per cent of the total number, are undernourished.

Two million of them face actual starvation. Hundreds of thousands of children are being sent to school daily without breakfast.

Up to 20 per cent of children applying at six years for admission to school have to be sent home as unfit to attend.

Infant mortality has increased 21 per cent in three months. The birth rate has decreased 50 per cent in some localities.

Fifteen to 25 per cent of children under two years old in hospitals have lung tubercle.

Only 50 per cent of mothers are able to nurse their babies.

Fats, cereals, and liver oil and milk for undernourished children are almost unobtainable.

Nearly 4,000,000 persons are totally unemployed and 3,500,000 are working only part time.

Thirty-nine cents a day is the highest unemployment dole.

HAVE IRISH NIGHT PARTY AT ELKS

St. Patrick's Day was fittingly observed at the Elks club last night, a large number of Elks and their fair friends making merry in the Middle street club rooms until a late hour. Banquets was the principal part of the program. Several performers from Keltic theatre took part in the evening's fun and enhanced greatly the gaiety of the evening. There was a goodly turnout and the holiday spirit was up to the hilt.

The receipts of the entertainment of last night will be turned over to the Boston convention committee of the local body, which is making arrangements for Lowell's participation in the grand lodge convention at Boston in July. A series of similar events between now and the dates for the convention is planned.

REICHSBANK HEAD GOING TO PARIS

PARIS, March 18.—(By the Associated Press) Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, today telegraphed that he would come to Paris to appear tomorrow, before the first committee of the reparations experts under the chairmanship of Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes. There is considerable interest in his return as the impression is going about that the Berlin government having in mind the German elections on May 4, is less anxious than heretofore to accept all the committee's suggestions.

UNIONS ASKED TO ASSIST COAL TEAMSTERS

A striking example of the success that follows an honestly-conducted, energetic local campaign for the spread of the principles of organized labor, has just been brought to the attention of Lowell public by Local No. 72, International Association of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Stablemen and Helpers, of this city.

A well-organized solicitation campaign was inaugurated several weeks ago for the purpose of enlisting new members and boosting the merits of union organization. In order that fair wages and working hours may be over the rule in the future in the coal-handling business in Lowell and vicinity, at least, widespread members of Local 72 reported today a new enrollment of several dozen members, making the total now more than 200 teamsters, chauffeurs, stablemen and helpers.

VARIOUS QUIZZES LINKED TO PUZZLING EXTENT

(This is the second of Charles P. Stewart's weekly discussions of the Washington investigations, which will make it easier for you to follow, day by day, the wire stories with greater understanding.)

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
N.E.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The oil, the Daugherty, the Veterans' bureau and other pending or expected investigations in Washington are getting so mixed together it's hard to tell which is which.

Senator Leconte has resigned as chairman of the oil investigation, because he was accused of favoritism to some of those he was investigating—of trying to make the inquiry too easy for them. The new chairman won't. He belongs to the radical bloc—Senator Ladd. Senator Walsh is the real prosecutor, anyway.

The Daugherty committee is just getting to work. Senator Brookhart, chairman, says it will co-operate with the oil investigators.

The oil inquiry has brought out hints that men in government posts have used official information to "play the market." In fact, Atty Gen. Daugherty admitted that he dabbled in oil, though he denied the "official information" part.

This gives the Daugherty committee a clear place where the two investigations overlap. The Daugherty committee's "probe" may touch so many more officials as to start an entirely new inquiry.

One of the charges for the Daugherty committee to still is to the effect that the justice department, of which Daugherty is head, "called off" agents who were trying to stop Americans from "running guns" to the De la Huerta revolutionists in Mexico. Oil interests, according to this story, were trying to overthrow President Obregon.

Fall's, Doherty's and Sinclair's names are mentioned. So again the oil and Daugherty cases overlap. Oil men's attempts to make trouble in Mexico are reported long before Daugherty's time, too.

The Chicago grand jury, which indicted ex-Director Forbes of the Veterans' bureau, accidentally unearthed evidence that certain congressional and taken from the Daugherty case out of all. In turn, this brought out a story of a big plot by bootleggers to get liquor from government warehouses.

If such a plot existed it must have included the justice department. Thus the Daugherty case, the Veterans' bureau inquiry and a prospective prohibition investigation are linked.

Leonard Wood, Jr., is quoted as saying in a certain oil men offered to help his father get the republican presidential nomination in 1920 if he'd appoint Jake Hamon of Oklahoma secretary of the interior, the job Fall finally got. Both the oil and Daugherty committees have subpoenaed young Wood.

At last the oil committee has questioned E. B. McLean, millionaire oilman, who pretended to have loaned Fall $100,000 when he hadn't. In order that Fall couldn't admit he got the money from Doherty, the man he loaned the $100,000 to reserve to. But McLean says he didn't know Fall's reason—or anything about the oil leases, more than "everybody knows now." As his "confidential man," John F. Malone, put it, "McLean went as far as he could for a friend and all for nothing."

The government's just starting suit to knock out the Sinclair and Doherty leases. If it fails, Sinclair and Doherty threaten damage claims. There's more talk of criminal prosecutions, too, but nothing definite.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, quitting, with his last official breath, declared the oil leases were a good thing for the government and no secret at all. They were so good, adds Doherty, commenting on this statement, that the government owes him $3,527,100 for oil right now.

ago worked steadily as a machinist in one of the local mills. Since being out of work he had acted slightly depressed but appeared all right at about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was last seen by the looking house keeper.

This morning, while cleaning up the rooms of the home, Irene Cole, a maid in Mrs. Goodness' employ, tried the door of Violet's room and found it locked. She knocked at the door and called his name several times but received no answer. Summoning assistance the door was forced open and Violet found dead, lying across his bed.

Lieut. Martin Maher was sent from the police station to investigate the case and reports finding a bundle, partly filled with a paraffin green mixture and considerable paraffin green on the floor and bed. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Alling later viewed the body and reported death due to suicide.

Violet was divorced some time ago and the whereabouts of his former wife could not be learned this morning. The only known relative is a sister, Mrs. Goodness, who resides at 20 Moody street.

Acting under instructions from the medical examiner, the body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Renner & Renner.

Opium Problem in America

did upon the heels of the treaty between England and America, which was brought about in order to regulate the liquor importation in this country, is quite interesting.

This measure was enforced because the Opium contained a large supply of drugs which she was distributing here.

In the list recently published in the Literary Digest giving the percentage of the non-enforcement opium law in the various sections and states of the country, Massachusetts is listed as having 70 per cent. non-enforcement.

"However, our country has the best record of any country in the world in regard to the serious attitude taken upon the narcotic smuggling."

"The first step toward the ending of this trade was made during the first months of the Taft administration at the conference of Shanghai. At the Hague conference in 1917 it was proposed that the exportation and production of opium be gradually decreased as the years wore on."

"One of the most remarkable steps taken was that by the opium commission of the League of Nations. It was there stated that the use of opium be cut to medical and scientific use only. The representative of India asked that the League should have reference to 'medical' use be changed to 'legitimate' use."

"Although the United States was not a member of the League of Nations she asked to be allowed a voice in the opium matter and in May of last year, a commission headed by Steven Paul, secretary of the department of commerce, stated at the conference in Geneva that the 'production and the use' of opium be limited to medical and scientific use only."

"The world convention called by the League of Nations at which the whole matter of the opium question will be decided, will be held in London, one of the deepest interest to all concerned, especially the United States."

"The whole truth of the matter is that in 1920, Warren Hastings, stated that although opium should not be exported in large quantities as possible to other nations. He was concerned with the circulation and production, not the importation."

"India and China, are the largest producers of narcotics although this is a poor production, Persia and Turkey produce all the opium for the world which are of the highest quality."

"This narcotic trade cannot be eliminated, however, so long as the east produces and the west consumes, or in other words when the various continents hold opposite views on the matter of opium it is only in its initial stage and no one knows where it will end."

Mrs. Gilson then related a few interesting personal experiences of her travels among the people of Czechoslovakia, where people live always on the hunger line, are so stupid that they do not know enough to get out of the way of an approaching train, and whose clothing consists of homespun cloth made into various smock-like garments."

Mrs. Gilson also gave a short résumé of the conditions in Washington regarding the opium question. "The things are getting nastier every day and the more one talks about conditions there the nastier they get."

Mrs. Gilson, who concluded her series of interesting lectures this morning, of which there were six, is soon to leave for South America where she will study conditions among the natives of that section of the world.

While there is some possibility of a new committee bill being reported out, it seems to be the consensus of opinion among the senators that the bill proposed by Mr. Lowell, the republican whip, will be reported out in deference to the republican majority in the house. Regardless of what bill is reported, Mr. Corbett, as the original sponsor of the project, is called to the fore of the proposal to build a new court house here, inasmuch as he was first to take some actual forward step to bring it about. For this reason it is felt certain that he be permitted to appear in executive session.

Mr. Corbett's body was badly mangled and was almost beyond identification. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Alling was summoned and ordered the body removed to the undertaking establishment of W. Herbert Blake.

In speaking of the accident, Treasurer Ames Stevens said that Mr. Corbett had been employed at the mill as an engineer for about 16 years and was familiar with the conditions near the water wheel. He said that the steps leading to the wheel are ice-covered during the winter months, the ice forming from the spray from the wheel, which is of the horizontal type. Employees of the mill, all of whom knew and liked Mr. Corbett, were considerably unnerved by the accident and on account of this Mr. Stevens ordered the mill shut down for the day.

LOOKS LIKE A BUSY JUNE IN EUROPE!

Leap year probably will see at least three royal weddings in Europe. And no doubt it will steal away all the marriageable sons and daughters of the kings and queens of Italy and Belgium. The dipesters on the imperial match-making figure it all out like this: Prince Nicholas of Roumania, and Princess Maflada, Victor Emmanuel's second daughter, shown on the right, will go to the altar first. Then there will be a double wedding in which Princess Marie of Belgium becomes the bride of Humbert, Italian crown prince, center, and Princess Giovana, Marie's younger sister, becomes the wife of Leopold, Albert's eldest son and heir to the Belgian throne.

WILL HOLD SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Tewksbury citizens have been called to attend a special town meeting on March 21, to act on street lighting problems. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the evening, for attendance is expected to be larger if the meeting is held at that time.

The voters will be asked to raise and appropriate the sum of $5000 to maintain street lights removed last month, "or take any action relative thereto."

There is also an article in the warrant, calling for the installation of lights in Shawheen street, from the Collins house to Bart's crossing, so called, and to the corner of Maple and Ballard streets via the "paved street" so-called.

endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted compensation.

Chairman Green of the ways and means committee brought the new bill up today under an assumed vote on suspension of the rules. This action automatically limited debate to 40 minutes, except by unanimous consent for an extension, and prevented the offering of amendments. A two-thirds majority, however, was necessary for passage.

The total cost of the bill is estimated at $110,000,000, to be spread over a period of 20 years. The maximum cost for the first year is placed at approximately $125,000,000.

It is estimated 2,038,253 veterans would be entitled to insurance policies and $38,553 to cash payments of $50 or less, while $55,711 would not be eligible for any bonus, having served less than sixty days. It is estimated also that 182,505 had died up to January 1, this year, whose dependents would be entitled to their adjusted service credits.

In speaking of the accident, Treasurer Ames Stevens said that Mr. Corbett had been employed at the mill as an engineer for about 16 years and was familiar with the conditions near the water wheel. He said that the steps leading to the wheel are ice-covered during the winter months, the ice forming from the spray from the wheel, which is of the horizontal type. Employees of the mill, all of whom knew and liked Mr. Corbett, were considerably unnerved by the accident and on account of this Mr. Stevens ordered the mill shut down for the day.

DIAMOND BEATS WILLIE SPENCER

At Diamond, Lowell's sensational lightweight, easily outpointed Willie Spencer in a 10-round bout at Jamaica, N. Y. last night. Diamond substituted for Billy Kyrff and made a great impression on the fans. The weights were announced as: Diamond, 115½; Spencer, 115. Jack Green, Diamond's manager, believes Diamond's win entitles him to extra consideration in the flyweight ranks, as Spencer has boxed with such talented performers as Pete Herman, Johnny Buff, Jerome, and Montreal.

"ON THE SQUARE"

GREAT FEAT OF SOVIET DIPLOMACY

MOSCOW, March 17.—(By the Associated Press) The Russian newspapers consider the Russo-Chinese rapprochement a great feat of soviet diplomacy and as significant of the future "liberation" of the Chinese from foreign control. The Workers' Gazette points out that Turkey, after resuming relations with soviet Russia, developed nationalistically until strong enough to throw off the foreign yoke and suggests that the Chinese agreement is equally important. Izvestia, the official newspaper, says Russia now becomes a factor in the future relationships on the Pacific ocean, which is rapidly becoming an international arena.

MILLION DOLLAR ART COLLECTION

NEW YORK, March 17.—A million dollar art collection given to the Metropolitan Art Museum by the late Theodore M. Davis on his death in Providence, R. I., in 1915, was ordered returned to his estate to be distributed among the beneficiaries of his will by three federal judges today. The decision, rendered in a suit filed by executors of the estate, held that the provision in the will bequeathing the collection to the museum, was void because it had not been executed in conformity to the laws of Rhode Island. The collection includes rare bronzes, pottery, antique rugs, velvets, silks, tapestries, antique glass, and several rare Egyptian pieces.

IMMIGRATION BILL REINTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Johnson immigration bill was reintroduced in the house today, refining the 1890 census as a basis for a two per cent. quota but otherwise revised to meet the suggestions of Secretary Hughes relative to treaties and administrative features. By retaining the 1890 census the Japanese clauses remain unchanged.

PROVIDENCE NEWS SOLD AUTOIST FINED $150

U. S. Senator Gerry of Rhode Island Purchases Paper to Be Democratic Organ

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 17.—John A. Hennessy of Brooklyn, president and editor of the Providence News, and James Carr Garrison of New York, vice president and publisher, have sold their interest in Peter C. Gerry, U. S. senator from Rhode Island, it was announced today.

The News now will become a straight democratic party organ under new management. It has been independent with democratic tendencies.

Mr. Gerry, son of Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry of Newport and New York, is serving his second term as United States senator.

Mr. Hennessy was for 12 years managing editor of the New York Press before that property was sold to Frank A. Munsey. Mr. Garrison was one of the editors of the Press during the same period.

Pleaded Guilty to Driving Off After Accident Without Making Himself Known

NORTHAMPTON, March 17.—Leroy D. Fuller of Granby was fined $150 and sentenced to two months in jail here today after pleading guilty in district court to running into Amanda Popkin of South Hadley and driving away, without making himself known, after the accident, which occurred on Newton street, South Hadley, on March 9. On payment of the fine, the jail term was suspended.

John Bertram, also of South Hadley, who was recently found guilty of the larceny of $20 from the Holyoke Produce Co., was today fined $25 having made restitution of the sum.

MAN HELD AS FUGITIVE MAIL ROBBER

GREENVILLE, Ky., March 17.—A man believed by Muhlenberg county officials to be Gerald Chapman, escaped convict from the federal prison at Atlanta, where he was serving a 25-year sentence for a mail robbery in New York, was held today for federal authorities.

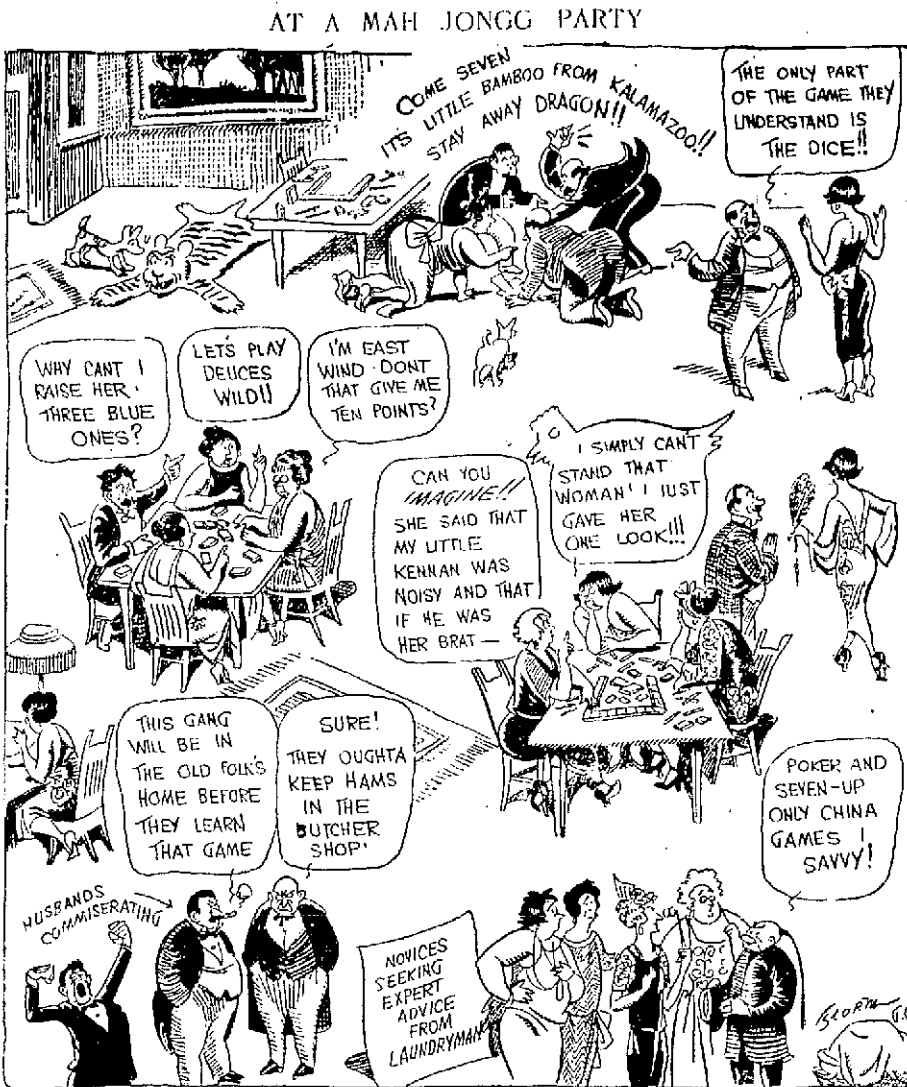

Chapman was arrested at Belton, by Sheriff C. P. Shaver, who had been watching him since soon after his arrival in central city, 10 days ago. The prisoner said his name was Charles Chapman, but denied that he was the man wanted. He has admitted a prison record, and according to Deputy D. C. Pace, his appearance tallies closely with that of the fugitive mail robber.

CANNOT INSPECT BOOKS OF CORPORATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The federal trade commission has no authority to the supreme court held today, to the limited inspection of the books, papers and correspondence of corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Congress had no intent, the court said, to confer upon the commission vicarious powers to inspect without limitation all records and correspondence of corporations doing an interstate business.

EVERETT TRUE

TO CANCEL LEASE OF OIL LANDS IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Suit to cancel the lease of California naval oil lands to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., as well as its accompanying agreement for construction and stocking by that company of naval oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, was filed by the government here today.

The bill of complaint charges that bribery entered into the making of the agreement, as well as affecting fraud, conspiracy and illegality, as in the case of the suit filed March 13 at Cheyenne, Wyo., with reference to the Tea Pot Dome lease and contracts.

As in the Tea Pot suit, the government's special counsel, After Pomerooy and Owen J. Roberts, asked the United States district court to issue a temporary injunction stopping the production of oil, appoint receivers to take possession, and control of the oil lands, and to enter a final decree de-

CALLS SEN. WHEELER "NEW ST. PATRICK"

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Senator Wheeler, of Montana, prosecutor in the Daugherty hearing, was characterized today by Frank A. Vanderlip of New York, as a "new St. Patrick."

"This is St. Patrick's day," said Mr. Vanderlip. "Senator Wheeler is a new St. Patrick, driving the snakes out of America. I am profoundly convinced of his purity of purpose and his extraordinary ability."

claring void and cancelling the lease and associated arrangements.

The Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co., and its subsidiary, the Pan-American Petroleum Co., were made defendants in the action, and E. L. Doherty, president of the oil company and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, are charged in the bill with conspiracy to defraud the United States "for the private gain of said Fall, and of defendants, for whom said Doherty acted."

For the creation of certain rights in the defendants, "Fall was to receive certain rewards from said Doherty," the bill avers, adding that the payment to Fall of $100,000 by Doherty in November, 1921, was "that certain reward theretofore promised."

WARN PRINCE OF WALES

His 12th Riding Accident is Made Text of Editorial Homilies in London Papers

LONDON, March 17.—The Prince of Wales' 12th riding accident in which he was thrown while participating in a race at Arburyfield, Saturday, is made the text of editorial homilies addressed to his royal highness by several of today's newspapers which tell him that the people are very much concerned over the manner in which he continues to risk his life. The writers remind him that he is not a private person, but a national asset and any that although he is fully entitled to recreation, especially in view of the heavy and thorough way in which he performs his public duties, it is time he imposed restraint on his plucky spirit.

All the comments are framed in the kindest tone, expressing anxiety for his safety, except that of the laborite newspaper, the Daily Herald, which insinuates that Wales spends his days hunting and steepplechasing and his nights dancing, and adds that it is time he took life more seriously and devoted his energies to occupations more worth while.

JOINT INVESTIGATION INTO TRAIN WRECK

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 17.—A joint investigation by officials of the U. S. N. I. & H. R. R. and representatives of the Massachusetts public utilities commission of the train wreck near Whitinsville, on the Providence and Worcester division last Friday afternoon in which 45 persons were injured, was begun here this afternoon.

Four victims of the crash are still at the Whitinsville hospital, but it was said there today that the condition of only one, Henry Tunstall, 52, of Fairhaven, Mass., was still serious. Hope of his recovery is entertained, unless pneumonia develops, the authorities said.

The others at the hospital, Joseph H. Monneau of Pawtucket, Edward L. Walling of Harrisville, and Howard H. Hawes, Evening Bulletin reporter, are said to be improving.

Among the witnesses called at the hearing on the accident today were members of the crew of the ill-fated train, including Engineer Calvin Wheeler of Westbrook and Conductor Frank Walsh of Worcester and John Congdon of Woonsocket.

It was expected that several passengers and the conductor and motorman of a trolley car which was passing the scene at the moment of the accident, would be called to testify at the investigation which is expected to continue here for several days.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., March 17.—Edith Clark, 18, of Manville, died this morning while "listening in" to the radio. Miss Clark had been ailing for some time but apparently was feeling fairly well. She had been listening in but a short time when she spoke to a member of her family, rested her head on the table and expired.

AFRAID TO DROP DAUGHERTY

Caraway Says Attorney General Kept in Office Because of Political Influence

Pres. Coolidge Doesn't Dare Let Him Go With Campaign Approaching

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Attorney General Daugherty is being kept in office by President Coolidge, solely because of Mr. Daugherty's supposed political influence, in the coming campaign, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, today charged in the senate.

"Everyone knows there would be a quick change of attorney generals if Mr. Coolidge were not a candidate for re-election," said the Arkansas senator.

"I am not criticizing the president in this connection but it is certain he doesn't dare to let Daugherty go simply and only because of political reasons."

PRES. COOLIDGE'S ACTION SUBJECT OF DEBATE

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Coolidge's action in cutting short Saturday a program of addresses at his reception to the Oberammergau Passion Players, brought an explanation from the White House today and stirred up a debate in the senate.

In a letter to Anton Lang, the "Christus" of the players, Mr. Coolidge expressed pleasure that the visitors had come to the White House and set forth that the only reason for the incident was the fact that it is not permissible for the president to receive public addresses from people of other nations, except through diplomatic channels.

The incident was taken up in the senate by Senator Dill, democrat, of Washington, who said he regretted that the president "had not taken a broader and more humane view of the delegation's plea in behalf of suffering German children."

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not. To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

PRICE PROBE ON GASOLINE

Gov. Cox Signs Bill Giving
Commission Power to
Make Investigation

Commodity is Now Legally
Classed as Among the
Necessaries of Life

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, March 18.—Governor Cox having signed his signature to the bill which makes gasoline, from a legal standpoint, a "necessary of life," the commission on necessities of life will soon begin its investigation to determine the cause for recent fluctuations in the price of the commodity.

Within a few months it will be recalled, gasoline dropped from a retail price of 21 cents in 16 cents, and then without apparent cause the price rebounded to 22½, where it now rests in most communities in the commonwealth.

Chairman Hultman proposes to find out whether this commodity is subject to the ancient law of "supply and demand." Always when the price is dropped, it is explained that there is an over-abundance somewhere in the country, and to facilitate its movement, lower prices are necessary. Accordingly prices are put down, usually for a few days, and then the upward curve begins once more.

While the commission declines to be quoted on the subject, it is obvious that he has a strong suspicion that there have been, at times at least, some other causes for price changes. One thing he proposes to find out is the reason why practically every one of the distributing companies, learns simultaneously of the necessity for a change. While they have not yet demonstrated quite as great efficiency as real dealers in this respect, nevertheless it has been noted that it is very seldom one of the companies is far behind when a boost in prices occurs.

Attorney-General Jay B. Reardon, who returned yesterday from a conference of attorney-generals in Chicago, will assist in every possible way in the inquiry which Commissioner Hultman is to make.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Directors Announce Another
"Lowell Day" Essay Contest in the Schools

Lowell chamber of commerce directors this morning announced that another "Lowell Day" essay contest, similar to the competitions conducted under chamber auspices during the past three years in honor of the anniversary of the city's incorporation, will be arranged as usual this year.

The topic quoted above will be used by members of both the parochial and public grammar schools who may desire to enter the contest, which is free to all. In past years, a very large number of grammar school pupils have written essays on topics selected for "Lowell day" contests by chamber of commerce executives. Many of the essays have been most excellent, and sometimes it has been a real task for the judges to select and agree upon winners.

That the contests held from year to year as a part of the observance of "Lowell day" are looked forward to regularly by many school children in the grammar department grades, goes without saying. The announcement issued today is made because the chamber executives desire to have the essay competition well advertised in advance.

Secretary-Manager George F. Wells, always an enthusiastic worker in the "Lowell day" essay campaign plans, said this morning that the parochial and public school pupils in the grammar grades must file their essays at the preliminary competition to be conducted in the schools on Friday, March 22.

Winners from each contesting school will then be selected, and they will be asked to enter the finals conducted at the high school on Monday, March 25. From the latter contest, the grand prize winner of the competition will be chosen.

While there is to be only one grand prize award, there will be separate awards given to preliminary winners in each school. In this way encouraging essay contestants will receive recognition for meritorious work in their individual schools, as well as have a chance to compete in the finals for the grand prize.

Judges of the competitions—three in number—will be announced by chamber authorities soon.

ADmits KILLING THREE

Paroled Convict Confesses
That He Murdered Two Women and Man

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 18.—John Kalki, paroled convict, has confessed that he murdered Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalley and Mrs. George Morse, at Linden, last week, the police here said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Whalley were shot in their home and Mrs. Morse, a grocer's wife, who was calling on the Whalleys, was beaten to death with an axe handle. The bodies were covered with oil soaked rags and set on fire.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Thomas Lee of Broadway was slightly injured early last night when the automobile he was riding in, driven by Fred J. Lynch of 242 School street, was in collision with a machine operated by Edward Smith of Tewksbury, at the corner of Dover and Nesmith streets. Mr. Lee refused to go to either a doctor or the hospital and was removed to his home. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Dry Officials Are Summoned

day by the Daughters Investigating committee, with at least one of the men named by other witnesses as principals in the deal—William A. Orr, one-time secretary to former Gov. Whitman of New York called to testify.

Atty. Gen. Donoghue, meanwhile, has passed the hands of Chairman Brookhart a letter stating that he was prepared to present testimony that was Boxie Stinson, together with A. J. Binck of Buffalo, N. Y., had offered to sell evidence against him and his brother, Mr. S. S. Donoghue, and friends, and that the proposals had been rejected.

Daughter's friend, the late Jess Smith, launched the inquiry last Wednesday with a sensational story that included reference to a film deal from which she said Smith had "got her way," meaning Daugherty and himself, hoping to obtain $150,000. She is to be examined further by the committee, having failed to complete her testimony in two days on the stand.

The attorney general's letter cited the request of his counsel for subpoenas for James W. Holcomb, Samuel Fugleider and Henry T. Ellis, of Cleveland, and M. S. Daugherty of Washington. Furthermore, the letter cited notification that a statement of what was expected to prove by our witnesses' most accompany such requests. The testimony of those witnesses, he said, was desired to prove that Miss Stinson and Fink made their alleged offer to sell the "documentary" evidence and her story on Feb. 21, and that Fink as her agent, asserted that if it was not purchased by Daugherty's friends, they "were going to New York to sell said evidence to other persons."

Mr. whom Senator Wheeler, democratic, Montana, president of the inquiry, selected late yesterday for today's first witness, has been identified to the committee as a party to the alleged agreement for distribution of the film in violation of the law in which Jap Muma, New York correspondent of Edward B. McLean's Cincinnati Inquirer, was said yesterday by C. O. Holdridge, former department of justice agent to have described himself as the master mind of the committee considering the question of immunity last night with reference to a plan to hear Muma today as well as Orr.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 18.—Assured by the weather forecast that flying conditions would be ideal today, the army, round-the-world pilots prepared to take off on the second leg of their flight, to Washington, as their goal. The first leg of the trip, from Clover Field to the city, was completed in good time.

"We have prepared a schedule of five and one-half months for the trip, but I am telling the people that we will be back on American soil in four and one-half months," Major Frederick Martin told the Sacramento chamber of commerce at a dinner last night for the aviators.

"The purpose of the flight is, first, to illustrate to other nations that it can be done; second, to demonstrate the possibilities of aerial navigation, and third, to gather climatic statistics, so that in the future, commercial aerial navigation, transportation and lines of communication may be established."

"I know the route we are taking now well, of course, not by the more preferable air line for commercial aircraft of the future. It is a step in the advancement of such transportation, however, and in many years to come, you and I, all of us will think nothing of going abroad by airplane."

FEES TO CITY CLERK

He is Not Obligated to Turn Them Over—Part of His Compensation

The supreme court decides that the city clerk of Pittsfield in the absence of a charter or ordinance providing to the contrary, is not obliged to turn over to the treasury any special fees received by him. Inquiries as to whether this decision affects Lowell result in showing that conditions are similar to those of Pittsfield.

City Clerk Flynn receives about $300 in such fees, chiefly for dog licenses, and these he is allowed to retain as part of his compensation. Even then he receives $100 less in salary than the clerks of other Massachusetts cities of Lowell's class. Thus the pay of the city clerk of the cities named is as follows:

Newton, $350; Cambridge, $350; Fall River, $250; Somerville, $250; Springfield, $200; New Bedford, $200.

DISPUTE OVER WOMAN GETS MAN IN TROUBLE

A dispute over a woman resulted in the appearance in district court this morning of Celestia Furson, charged with assault and battery on Christy Sooky. He pleaded not guilty, and was continued in $300 bonds until tomorrow morning. Complaint and defendant both appeared in court with their faces bandaged as the result of an alleged row in an Adams street house last Sunday afternoon.

The trouble, according to Sooky, originated when Furson entered the house and began talking of the girl in the case. A tussle ensued, in which Sooky sustained a bad cut in the forehead that required three required stitches. Furson's lip was bitten and two stitches in his defense, the latter claimed that he struck the complainant in self-defense when he was attacked "like a lion."

YOUNG BANDIT ARRESTED

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Throws Gun on Proprietor and Robs Store

In juvenile court next Friday, a 15-year-old youth whose name is being withheld by the police, will face a charge of robbery as the result of entering the variety store of Edward O'Connor at Lakeside and Bunker Hill avenues yesterday afternoon, and robbing the cash box at the point of a revolver. The youth was arrested in a pool room in Lakeside avenue some time later and booked at the police station by Sgt. Thomas McCloughrey and officers Matthew McCann and J. S. McCann on a charge of robbery. Bonds were set at $1000.

According to the story told the police by the proprietor, the youthful bandit entered his establishment about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He proceeded to a rear room where Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were busy, and immediately ordered them to throw up their hands. To emphasize the fact that he meant business, he pulled the trigger of the gun and sent a bullet whizzing through one of the windows, barely missing a woman and child who were passing the store at the time. He then rifled the till, appropriating a sum of money.

Mr. O'Connor notified the police as soon as the hold robber disappeared. He informed them that the same youth had robbed him on two previous occasions.

OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS STATE SENATE REJECTS BILLS

High School Pupils May Compete for Free Tuition or Cash Prizes

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, March 18.—High school pupils in Lowell and other cities have been invited by the state department of education to participate in the competition for scholarships in leading colleges, including Yale and Vassar, being conducted by the American Chemical society.

The competition centers about the writing of essays on six specified subjects relating to chemistry, and there will be both state and national competitions. For the best essay written in each state on any one of the subjects, the society will pay a cash prize of $20; and the best essay submitted in the whole country will bring to the writer a scholarship at Yale or Vassar, with the cash award of $500 for each of the four years of the regular college term.

In several other states one or more universities have joined in the movement and are offering scholarships to the state winners, and it is the hope of the state committee in charge of the competition that some Massachusetts college will follow a similar course.

The six specified subjects for essays are: The relation of chemistry to health and disease; the relation of chemistry to the enrichment of life; the relation of chemistry to agriculture and forestry; the relation of chemistry to national defense; the relation of chemistry to the home and the development of the industries and the resources of the state.

In order to be considered in the competition, essays must be in the hands of the chairman of the awards committee for Massachusetts not later than April 1st. The chairman for Massachusetts is Franklin H. Hobb, president of the Lexington mills of Lawrence, whose business address is 78 Chauncy street, Boston.

JUDGE FISHER CONDUCTS TWO INQUESTS

Two inquests were held before Judge Fisher in the court of second sessions, Market st. police station, this morning. The first concerned the death on March 3, of Paulina MacDonald, who died at St. John's hospital after two weeks after being struck by an automobile in the operation of Albert LaFleur. The accident occurred in Middlesex street on the night of Feb. 16.

The second hearing was in connection with the death of Timothy T. O'Keefe of 117 Hoyt avenue, who was found unconscious at the corner of Essex and Nesmith streets about midnight on March 7, and died the following day at St. John's hospital without enlightening investigators on the circumstances regarding the accident. It is the opinion of the police that death resulted from injuries sustained by being struck by an automobile, who occupants drove off without reporting the incident or making themselves known.

FELL SIX STORIES, HELD AS AERIAL BURGLAR

NEW YORK, March 18.—Raymond Tapia, 23 years old, fell six stories from the roof of a West 66th street apartment early today, and lived, only to be placed under arrest as an "aerial burglar."

Tapia, alighted on a pile of coal in a courtyard, a circumstance which undoubtedly saved his life. He suffered internal injuries and a fractured leg. Asked how he came to be on the roof, Tapia told the police two men had lured him there and then attempted to rob him. He was knocked off, he said, when he put up a fight.

Detectives searched his rooms, however, and claim to have recovered several thousands of dollars worth of furs and gems stolen in recent robberies. They said they believed Tapia entered apartments by climbing on a rope from a neighbor's window, lowering himself to open windows.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS IN VAUDEVILLE

Pupils of the high school turned their hand to vaudeville yesterday with excellent results at performances given in the afternoon and evening in the Irish auditorium before audiences made up of students and parents. After the evening performance there was general dancing in the hall. The show was given for the benefit of the school orchestra and the money netted will allow the purchase of uniforms for its members.

Seven numbers were included in the program and each well merited the applause accorded it. After an overture by the orchestra playing under the direction of Mr. E. C. Hunt, Miss Doris Wilder gave an Irish jig to music furnished by Miss Marion Ryan at the piano. It was lively stepping and perfectly in tune with the day.

Boys carefully trained in the school of gymnastics by Donald M. Lynch and Arthur Lynch gave a tumbling act under the former's supervision. Many clever tricks were put over in good shape. The boys who took part were Emmett Bear, Donald Johnson, Thomas Sullivan, Francis Riley, Chas. Churchill, Alton J. Day, Robert Coughlin, Ewington Dugham and Geo. Chulada.

"A Trick of the Trade" gave excellent opportunity to enjoy the singing of Maurice Friedman and Miss Dorothy Russell, who handled the bright lines of the sketch with ease and really gave an excellent interpretation of the plot.

A group dance came next, with 15 or more girls dressed as "Dixie Chasers." The costumes were Dutch, including wooden shoes and the dance done as the hands clapped out the best speech of dirt was used in recognition. Taking part were the Misses Anderson, Thomas, Munn, Chase, Elizabeth, Fleming, Elizabeth, Yvonne, Friedman, Irene, Jack, Louis, Pansy, Irene, William, Alice, Sabourin, Frances, Garret, Eileen, Markham, Vera, Blaisdell, Beatrice, Breton and Gertrude, Donahoe.

Miss Jessica Allen deserves all praise for her Spanish dance which was done in charming costume. It was a solo number and not an easy one to do even before friends, but Miss Allen was more than equal to it and was repeated several times. Miss Ryan again accompanied.

If a headline act is selected it is "Trial by Jury," one of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas, which closed the program. It has not been given locally for some time, although still meeting the popular fancy as evidenced by the applause which was spontaneous from time to time. In addition to a large chorus the opera was quickly staged and gave a number of well known school boys and girls opportunity to use their excellent voices. Starring in the cast were Roland Whitworth, Miss Jean D. Chapman, Arthur Parent, Raymond Gouin, Robert Timmins, Joseph Casey and Miss Alice Sheehan.

ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT PARTY AND DANCING

A happy group gathered at Marie's last evening where a delightful St. Patrick's night party and dancing was given with Mr. and Mrs. Peters, the proprietors of the restaurant, acting as host and hostess respectively.

The ballroom and main dining room were decorated in green and white streamers together with the American colors. The large chandeliers together with bracketed lights were tastefully draped with green and white, the color scheme being most effective in producing a soft, spring-like atmosphere.

Mrs. Nora Ryan Langtin entertained with several solos, while Mr. William Gannon also gave numerous vocal interpretations. Mr. Charles "Chase" delighted his audience with various dance numbers. A fine cabaret number was also on the program.

Following the regular non-al dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Favors and souvenirs were distributed during the evening and the affair was one of the most pleasing ever held.

DETROIT WOMAN RECOVERS

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. — "Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then I said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks." Mrs. HAMBURK, 2745 25th Street, Detroit, Mich.

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pains and nervousness, or any feminine disorder, bear in mind that the Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale by druggists.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Goodrich and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Green's Drug Store and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home remedy has an almost unbroken record for curing piles and hemorrhoids and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you. —Adv.

HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

Reports Read at Regular Meeting of Middlesex Women's Club

The regular business meeting of the Middlesex Women's club was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Colonial hall with the president, Mrs. Hobson in the chair.

The recording secretary, Mrs. J. Butler read a report of the past year's activities which was followed by the reading of the report of the federation secretary, which included an enumeration of the various meetings attended and a short resume of the work accomplished.

The names of the members of the nominating committee were then read by Mrs. Hobson. It was voted that Mrs. Hill, former president, be elected because of her inability to be an active member, be admitted as an honorary member.

It was also voted that the sum of $25 be sent toward swelling the Marion Chase Baker scholarship being donated by the Federation of Women's clubs in memory of Marion Chase Baker, former president of the federation, now deceased.

It was announced that plans are under way for receiving the federative clubs in Lowell next fall, and that indications are pointing to a successful affair.

It was unanimously voted that the time of the club play next Monday evening, which had been set at 8 o'clock, be changed to 7:45 o'clock in order that the play might end early enough for those who were obliged to make street car connections.

The business having been completed the meeting was placed in charge of Mrs. Julia Keyes, chairman of the executive committee. Mrs. Keyes gave a resume of the work accomplished by that committee stating that although the work was rather slow in its progress she hoped it would advance with time. "We are working along health and Americanization lines," she stated. "We feel that we have the support of our members and we want to please them."

Mrs. E. MacPhie, chairman of the committee for the blind then read her report stressing the need of encouragement, and not pity, for the blind. She also pointed out the advantages which the state offers for people so handicapped.

Mrs. W. Wiggin, chairman of the consumer's committee then gave a short original sketch of conditions in various shops visited by lady inspectors. She emphasized the fact that good health and pure food were obtained only by eliminating the fly, which in its daily rounds, brought innumerable germs with it.

Miss Hill, chairman of the Girl Scouts committee then read an interesting report of the activities of the organization, including the good work done by the nutritional clinic maintained in the basement of the high school on Saturday mornings under the supervision of Miss Nathalie Marshall, council worker.

Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions. —Adv.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the dry, throat tickle and breaks the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

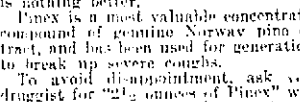

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

RIALTO THEATRE

Followers of Hoot Gibson's "gallip-ing" progress through so many popular western pictures have a surprise in store for them at the Rialto theatre where Gibson is appearing in "Double Deal," a rural comedy drama. It is the first role of such a character that the famous cowboy has ever essayed and it shows that he is a comedian of note. Gibson is presented as a droll youth who has inherited a small town drugstore and a heavy mortgage. Most of the visits to the store are made by Urah Johnson, who holds the mortgage. "Business is terrible, but the youth finds some consolation in a book entitled 'How To Be Successful,' which he reads during his spare moments. Most of his moments are spare, so he has little opportunity to apply the principles of the book he studies so carefully.

Hoot enacts the role of Ben Slow-bell, the slow-witted drug store proprietor, with a comical air that affords a lot of laughs and again with human interest. It is a new role for Gibson, but he handles it with the ease of a veteran actor of comedy.

The comedy roles by the two well-known screen comedians, Eddie Gribbon and Jack Dillon, and in the dramatic sequences by Gertrude Claire, the dear old mother of the screen, as Mother Slowbell and Helen Ferguson in the role of the little slavey who loved him. Other well known players in the cast are Betty Francisco, Otto Hoffman and Frank Hayes.

The companion attraction presents Clara Kimball Young in "Verdella the Magnificent," which is without doubt one of the finest pictures in which this popular star has ever appeared. She is seen in the role of a girl who has always been accustomed to money; she had a mother who wanted her to marry it—and she wanted love. She becomes unmoored in a nefarious blackmail scandal which nearly ruins her whole life, but with the aid of the hero she extricates herself in a most thrilling manner. Lloyd Whitlock and Frankie Gordon are seen in support of the star.

It is very seldom that a comedy, a "two reeler" especially, should come in for any special mention, but the comedy which is on this bill is one of the funniest ever seen by this reviewer. The title of it is, "The Unreal News Reel" and is a burlesque on the popular News Reels that are being shown on the screen. This comedy is a "Wow" from start to finish. It shows some of the most ludicrously absurd situations that one can't help but bustle right into hearty guffaws. You'll like this comedy because it's a little bit different. And then of course there is the regular News Reel on the bill which shows us some up-to-the-minute views of very recent happenings.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Sir Hall Caine's gripping story of the Italy of today, "The Rector's Clerk," is the leading attraction on the program at the Strand theatre the first part of this week. A second feature is a Charlie Chaplin comedy, "The Adventurer," while the program is rounded out by a timely news reel.

"The Eternal City" as a moving picture is an ever increasing quantity in a book. A George Fitzmaurice production, filmed in ancient Rome and the country in the vicinity of this historic city that has changed but slightly in the past two centuries, the leading characters were chosen for the parts carefully as to type and fill their parts well.

The cast is all-star and includes among others Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytell, Montagu Love and Richard Bennett. The author parts are taken by actors and actresses from Italian moving picture studios whose faithful reproduction of the types of Italian described in the book added greatly to the enjoyment of the picture.

The story is of the love of Roma, daughter of Dr. Rosselli who, prior to the World War, had written a book which he believed would end all conflicts between great nations, and David Rossi, whose parents are unknown, but who has been cured for by Roma, professional beggar. David is adopted as a child by Dr. Rosselli and grows up with Roma, her ardent admirer whose love is returned.

Then, when manhood dawns before David, Italy enters the World War and he is forced to choose between his country and his loved one and chosen for the first. His enlistment in Italy's army brings about the death of Dr. Rosselli and Roma's love, she believes, is to hate him. David is reported killed and Roma goes to the Eternal City to study art under the patronage of a profiteering baron, who schemes for her heart while he encourages her study of art.

The war comes to an end and David returns, to find Roma gone from her home. Discouraged, he goes to Rome to join the ranks of Mussolini's black-shirted battalions who are out to save Italy from the Reds.

From this point on the story speeds to a thrilling climax which takes us for a few minutes to be a discouragement, but which finally brings the two lovers together in a happy ending.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

"The Stranger" a Paramount production adapted from the novel by John Galsworthy is the picture at Merrimack Square the picture of the first three days of this week. The leading roles are handled by Tully Marshall and Betty Thompson, supported by Richard Dix, Lewis Stone, Robert Scoble, Marion Skinner and Mary Jane Irving.

The story is one of a mill girl who turns show girl and gets "in bad" because of the show of the show owner, to have her eventually his prospective victim. The show owner runs about of the law and is jailed. The heroine falls in love with a poor but honest nondescript. The showman gets out of jail and attacks the heroine. In a tussle with her over the showman gets a tumble that results in his death. "The Stranger" is arrested for murder and drops dead on the scaffold just before the hanging. The makes the nature look bright for the heroine and her lover, who live happy ever after.

"The Marriage Market" with Alice Lake as the star is the second picture Ben Turpin is present in "Where Is My Wandering Boy This Evening," a comedy film. The Boston Post prize reel, "Banking in New England" and the International News Weekly complete the bill.

ACADEMY STOCK PLAYERS

Manager London R. Barclay is expected to make announcements tomorrow as to the advance ticket sale for "Twin Beds," the first attraction for the three-weeks stock season which will start next Monday. The Academy of Music has been newly redecorated and played in most presentable shape. The ticket office will probably be open tomorrow, although definite notice will be given in the advertising columns.

The stock return is at the request of hundreds of former Lowell Opera House patrons who greatly missed the loss of the Opera House players after the disastrous fire of six weeks ago.

BREATHLESS AFTER SLIGHT EXERTION

Mrs. Sexton's Case Well Illustrates How an Anemic Condition Can Be Corrected

"I had been more or less anemic from girlhood," says Mrs. William Sexton, of No. 82 Kenyon Avenue, Pawtucket, R. I., "and after my boy was born I got run down and did not seem to be able to pick up. My blood was poor and thin, my appetite was not good and food did not agree with me. I had no ambition, and my housework tired me out completely. I was pale and sallow, had no color in my lips and became short of breath when I went upstairs or walked short distance. I had sick headaches, my circulation was poor and I was cold much of the time.

"Through relatives and friends in England who had been helped by them I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After the third box I felt stronger and had a better color. I could not hardly and my circulation improved. I did not have the chilly sensations. I kept on with the pills and they built up my health. I regained my strength so that I did not tire easily. I have great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent, post paid on receipt of price, sixty cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free upon request.—Adv.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly cured me. Years have passed and my rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 335-K, Marcellus Avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

FAVOR DANCE AND SOCIAL IN TOWN HALL

One of the most successful of the St. Patrick's night parties in the Chelmsford, was the favor dance and social conducted under auspices of St. John's mission in Chelmsford town hall. Green and white streamers of crepe paper were hung from the windows and electric chandeliers. The stage was a mass of green flowers with a white lattice work fence as background. Ice cream and cake were served at intermission.

The general arrangements committee: Chairman, Walter McMahon, Paul Pratt, Daniel E. Haley, Ephraim Ayotte, aids. The decorations were the work of Mrs. Walter McMahon and Mrs. Paul Pratt, who also had the favors in charge, which were distributed during the grand march by Misses Blanche Ayotte and Gladys Kemp.

The following committee served ice cream and cake: Mrs. Paul Pratt, Mrs. Walter McMahon, Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. R. C. Hazeltine and Miss Catherine Green.

Port Rome and Henry Dunn will sing your blues away for keeps. They harmonize splendidly and each has a voice of more than ordinary worth. They call their act "Harmony As You Like It" and last night's audience did just that and demanded more.

You will like Charles Crafts and Jack Haley, who sing, dance and chatter. Their comedy is good, based on the accepted lines of repartee and is filled with many good things.

Eddie Webber and Marion Hinder are fine dancers and work out a splendid variety of stuff. Several costume changes help out a lot and they appear to distinct advantage in each number.

The piano fairly talks and sings under the magic and lightning fast fingers of Miss Inez Hanly, who also throws in a song or two for good measure. She does "single" and is sure to please the most critical audience.

The show is opened by Nibbe, under

MILL OPERATIVE FOUND
HANGING FROM TREE

Hanging by the neck from a rope attached to the branch of a large tree in the woods on the Crosby farm, in New Boston village, the dead body of Constant Jonekers, the Collierville mill operative, who mysteriously disappeared from his home on Sunday, March 2, was found yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Ailing has declared it to be suicide by hanging. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Amedeo Archambault and Sons, this city.

The suicide was discovered by two young men, Hugh Queenan of Primrose Hill, Drecht, and Alfred Sayers of Lowell, who had been searching the territory in the vicinity of the Arthur W. Colburn farm under the impression that a reward had been offered for a solution of the strange case of disappearance. Upon finding the body, the young men promptly notified Chief of Police Bert A. Clark, who in turn notified the medical examiner.

Jonekers was a native of France and leaves a wife and 7-year-old daughter. He was formerly employed as a loomfixer at the Beaver Brook mills and had recently complained that he was losing his eyesight.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL
BY BLIND COMPOSER

Joseph A. Marshall, blind composer and pianist, gave a delightful recital at Notre Dame academy yesterday afternoon, before the community of sisters who have charge of the school. The originality of his compositions was marked in numerous interpretations, while the recital in general was a wealth of melodic grace and beauty.

Among his interpretations was the Laurentian suite, comprising a series of sketches written after the composer had visited that region. Included in the suite are: "In the Forest," "The Village Fete," "Drifting on the St. Lawrence," "The Wayside Shrine" and "Pontifical March on the Feast of St. Anne."

The program also included numerous light fantastic compositions and the heavier, more emphatic selections, including "Polonaise Militaire," "Moonlight Reverie," portraying the cool and calm of a moonlight night, was artistically given by Mr. Marshall.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

A corps of speakers under Past District Deputy Charles J. Landers will address K. of C. councils in Marlboro and Worcester, Andover and other places in the next week or ten days in connection with the big exemplification of the fourth degree in Lowell on May 4, which will be the biggest affair in K. of C. circles in New England this year. The arrangements for the Lowell degree handled here by a large committee are being seconded by a committee in Boston headed by Louis Watson, master of the fourth degree in this section, and Michael J. Downey. The tremendous amount of detail is being handled efficiently and already plans are beginning to assume definite shape. The Boston men are to confer from time to time with the Lowell men.

Today advices were received from various parts of the state that big delegations will come to Lowell on the day of the degree. The meeting of the general committee tonight, and the regular meeting of Bishop Delany assembly on Thursday night show that locally the preliminary arrangements are going at high speed.

It was stated in Boston yesterday that Charles P. McAlevy, master of the fourth degree in Rhode Island, had been named a member of the supreme board of directors to take the place of Charles L. Dwyer of Chicago, deceased. This makes two members of the board of directors in New England. William C. Prout, state deputy, being the other; the latter comes to Lowell to address Lowell council next month. Messrs. McAlevy and Prout, with other supreme officials of the order, will be here in May.

The annual banquet of the state council, K. of C. on April 25 will be a brilliant event, and Lowell will send a big delegation.

HIGHLAND UNION BROTHERHOOD

Supper was served to members and guests at 6:30. President John A. Lamberton opened the business meeting. It was announced that a "Ladies' Night" would be conducted by the brotherhood next month, date to be announced. Pastor Jackman's evening topic was "The Creator and Creations." A radio concert followed the address. Last night's supper committee included Guy M. McCallum, William M. Rawlinson and John H. Preston, assisted by Elwood Peters and Clarence McCallum.

BY VISSER-HOOFT
Explorer and Mountain Climber
STOCKHOLM, Mar. 15.—If unknown regions beckon you, if you would walk where a white man never walked, you have plenty of opportunity.
The greater part of the world has been mapped and equipped with tourist hotels, pay taxes, buys fixures, but there still are regions to lure the explorer.
One of the most important of these regions is in central Asia, where the great mountain ranges, the Himalayas and the Kara-Korum, run parallel. The first is widely known. But the Kara-Korum, rival of the Himalayas, has been seldom visited.
Coolie Transports
On the Kara-Korum ranges are the greatest glaciers on earth. The cho-col peak is 28,250 feet high, only 883 feet lower than Mount Everest.

Many great sections of the Kara-Korum mountains have never been visited by white men. Even the natives regard the mountains with superstitious fear and dare not venture up the steep slopes.
My wife and I have just returned after spending four months in the Kara-Korum mountains. We climbed to a height of 17,000 feet, climbed up all intense cold and the rarity of the air forced us to turn back.
Travel was most difficult. Our horses and yaks had utmost difficulty in crossing the high mountain passes and the swiftly running streams. At the 15,000-foot elevation we had to leave our pack animals, for they could climb no higher.
In the boulder-strewn valleys and on the glaciers it was often nearly impossible to find a suitable place to pitch our tents.

The country—even the valleys—lacks vegetation.
We found it most difficult to deal with the natives, the Ladakhi, who closely resemble their Tibetan neighbors. Although they are good-natured and honest, they are in constant fear of devils. They were afraid to venture out on the glaciers.
One day, as we were climbing a dangerous place on a deep ice-slope, two of the coolies were seized with a sudden fit of madness.

It was only with difficulty that we managed to hold them and prevent them from leaping over the precipice. They were suffering from the effects of the rarified air.

"YOU CAN'T GET AWAY WITH IT"

V. M. C. A. DIRECTORS
The board of directors of the V.M.C.A. last night designated Herbert W. Horne and Harold G. Howe as the association representatives on the Community Chest committee. The resignation of Miss Gertrude S. Partillo, book-keeper at the Y for the past four years was accepted, a vote of recognition for her faithful service being passed. L. A. Olney, Jr., H. Cannon, Walter Clement and H. W. Ball were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the April meeting.

Suffering From Stomach,
Liver and Kidneys, Conquered by Dreo

Mr. Alvin W. Stockwell of Browns Block, who has lived in Lowell for more than fifty years, who is one of the few veterans of the Civil war still living, says:

"For the past ten years I have been crippled by indigestion and other troubles. I am laid in my stomach like lead. Indigestion doubled me up with cramps. Gas bloated my stomach, making me belch. Acid sickness burned up my insides and made me gasp for breath. I went through this ordeal after every meal that I ate.

"I felt tired and worn out. I thought I was about at the end of my string. My kidneys bothered me so that I couldn't get a good night's sleep. My sluggish liver clogged up my system, sapping my strength.

"For ten years I endured this suffering when I came to my rescue. This marvelous remedy has brought me back to life, giving me health and strength. I want everyone who is suffering as I suffer to take advantage of the wonderful restorative powers of this great remedy."

Dreo is made from the pure, unadulterated juice of 12 remarkable plants, roots, herbs and leaves. Scientifically blended by the David H. Pulton Co. Laboratories of Baltimore, they act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood, and tend to relieve constipation, headaches, rheumatism, catarrh, biliousness, dizzy spells, heart fluttering, gas on stomach and other troubles.

THE REINSTATEMENT OF PADDOCK ENDS "WAR"

NEW YORK, March 18.—(By the Associated Press) Reinstatement of Chas. W. Paddock, sensational California sprinter, by the Amateur Athletic union, has closed for the present at least, a bitter war among athletic governing organizations. For nearly a year, the stocky western flier has been the storm center of a controversy that developed international complications but harmony has been restored, observers believe with factional interests submerged in the common cause of Olympic preparation for 1924.

Differences existing for some time between the A.A.U., American track and field governing body, and interests represented by the National Collegiate Athletic association brought to a climax last May when Paddock, defying a dictum of the A.A.U. forbidding foreign competition by American athletes, participated in a students track meet at Paris. This step brought about Paddock's automatic suspension from the A.A.U. and brought into direct conflict the rival governing factions, both here and abroad.

Just when the controversy seemed at its height, Brig. Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, president of the N.C.A.A., unexpectedly advised Paddock to apply for A.A.U. reinstatement, thus paved the way for a solution.

Paddock, who now plans a campaign to fit himself for the American Olympic team, holds five world's sprint records outright and is joint holder of a ninth.

Mothers You Can Prevent Children From Taking Cold
Next Time They Come in Wet and "Sniffling" Rub This Vapor Salve Over Throat and Chest

When children come in from play with feet wet, noses blue and hands like lumps of ice, you feel sure that they are "in for a cold."

But the next time try Vicks. At bedtime rub this vaporizing salve well in over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors, and these vapors go directly to the air passages, stimulating the mucous membrane to repel germ attacks.

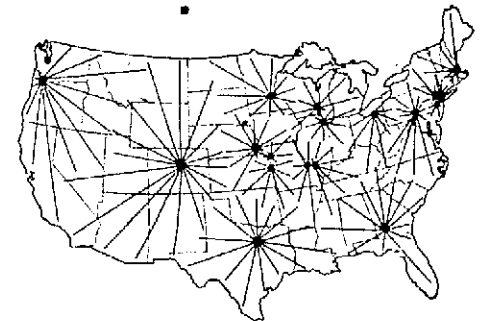

At the same time Vicks increases the circulation of the blood through the chest region, thus helping to prevent any congestion developing.

If applied in time, Vicks will prevent many colds from getting a start and its use doesn't disturb the child's digestion as constant internal dosing is so apt to do.

How does your market get its meat?

Day in and day out, the retail shop has the cuts of meat that you desire. The service is so regular that people take it for granted.

How the meat got there is an interesting story that you will like to read.

Back of your retailer is a large organization. This organization buys the live stock offered by the producers, transforms it into clean, wholesome meat, and then distributes the meat to thousands of retailers in cities, towns, and villages all over the country.

But how?

Larger cities have Swift & Company branch houses, which always have a supply of fresh and cured meats in their coolers.

The smaller cities and towns receive regular supplies from refrigerator cars shipped direct from plants.

The story of these direct shipments is interesting.

Swift & Company's 1924 Year Book tells this story on page 33 and also gives many other interesting facts about the packing industry. A copy is yours, free, if you will send for it.

BOLSHEVISTIC MENACE

It would be a serious mistake to gloat over the revelations made before the investigating committees at Washington from day to day. The whole matter is one of which every American must feel utterly ashamed. To find high officials of the national government charged with corruption, even where it was their official duty to promote honest government and the strict administration of justice, must be regretted even by their political opponents.

It is such conduct and corruption in high places that give encouragement to the advocates of radical policies and even Bolshevism. It is to be hoped that no such dangerous tendencies will be countenanced by anybody having the slightest regard for the principles of American liberty. If corruption has crept into the government, there is a remedy and there will soon be an opportunity for the people to express their sense of disgust at the ballot box over the present state of affairs. They will have an opportunity to drive the republican party from power and to elect a democratic administration that will reflect the will of the people and carry out the principles for which they were elected. Fortunately, the national election is not far off and it is highly probable that there will be a clean sweep of the republican party from power and the selection of a democratic administration to restore an honest and progressive administration of the nation's business. There is danger of a third party entering the field and defeating the will of the people by a triangular contest; but this possibility will be greatly lessened if the democratic party will show good generalship in nominating a strong and winning ticket.

THREATENED BLOW TO BOSTON

It seems that the port of Boston is in for another discrimination in the matter of rates, provided an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take effect on May 20 be carried out. That order would put into operation Section 28 of the Merchant Marine act of 1920, which gives preferential rates to American flag steamers on freight from the Middle West. The shipments in foreign vessels which leave Boston would be prohibitive. This rate from the Middle West to New York is seven cents per hundred pounds lower than the rate to Boston.

It is objected that there is no adequate service by American ships from Boston to foreign ports and hence the business which will go to the ports that have such service. New York in this respect has the advantage and this provision, if carried out, would run the trade from Boston. It is very strange that these preferential rates are applied so as to discriminate against Boston and in favor of ports farther south.

This is a matter that seriously concerns New England which has already suffered irreparable loss and injury through discrimination in freight rates, despite the fact that the New England states are well represented in the government at Washington.

A Thought
The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat one's self.—Bailly.

Look Like Gentlemen
At a hotel in a popular holiday resort ministers are allowed special rates during certain periods of the year. One minister was somewhat surprised on arriving at the hotel not to see any brother clergies, and asked the clerk if there were any in attendance. "Yes, sir," replied the clerk. "Here are several ministers here, but they don't wear clerical clothes; they just look like gentlemen."

Right and Left
Plattland had arrived home late from the office, and his wife was not the sort of a woman to let a thing like that pass unnoticed. "Why didn't you catch the 20 train home tonight, you fool?" she demanded. "Well, you see dear," replied Herbert, "I asked a porter from which platform my train started, and he said if I turned to the left, I'd be right. 'Well, didn't you?' 'Unfortunately, no my dear,' replied her husband. 'A little mistake on my part. I turned to the right, and was left.'"

First Come First Served
The elevator boy was green at the job. Two passengers, a man and a woman, got on at the street door. "Ninth," said the latter once they were fairly started. "Sixth," said the man. The car sped by the sixth floor and stopped at the ninth. On the way back the man said: "Why in thunder didn't you stop at the sixth floor? The sixth floor is lower than the ninth. I know that," said the elevator boy, "but the lady said 'ninth' first."

Next Thing to It
"You say Charlie Billtopper is located on this block?" said Brown. "Right across the street," responded Jones. "Well, well. In school we all thought Charlie would turn out to be an actor," continued Brown. "At any rate he's a tinner, the next best thing." "How do you make out that being a tinner is the next best thing to being an orator?" "From his sign-board it is." And the other man read it.

Just Another "It"
If you can "listen in" when all about you is heard a medley of discordant sounds, If you can tell, when asked, what you are getting While Laura plays loudly pounds, If you can turn a disc and get a station And understand a word that is announced, While Ma is telephoning to Eliza, How her next dress is made and where it's flounced.

If you "tune in" a lecture on Home and don't get pancakes mixed with oyster stew, While Tom runs in with half a dozen others And you know if you'll fix his canoe, If you can tell one station from another, And not get KD mixed with Kalamazoo, While Jack to Jim is threatening—"I'll tell Mother," And Mother says: "There, boys, now that will do."

If you can hear a concert in Chicago As clear and plain as if it were in view, While kids are playing Indian in the kitchen, Telling "We ain't got no bananas" too, If nightly you can pull in Sunny Cuba And not wish you were there to get a drink, If you can be disturbed and still look pleasant, Be called a "bug" and still have brains to think, If you can find amusement in your radio, And use a "speaker" for your neighbor, You'll make your wife at least a "Radio widow," And what's more, you'll be a Radio Man, My Boy.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION
Members of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society of North Billerica celebrated St. Patrick's day with a dancing party in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall last night. Condon, William S. Taylor, John S. Walsh, Carroll J. Delaney and Frank J. McNulty.

WEEK'S AUTO FATALITIES
It appears by statistics given out by the Registrar of motor vehicles, that there were 49 convictions within the state during the week ended March 16, for violations of the automobile laws. During that week, seven persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents, which shows a very high percentage of increase over the number for the preceding week, which is due, undoubtedly, to the increased number of automobiles on the highways as a result of better weather conditions. Out of the 49 convictions, there were only 16 jail sentences, and it is now believed that nothing will prevent caution on the highways and refrain from reckless driving more readily than in the case of those who are found guilty of no violations and without violation of the law. The Registrar and the district judges have had a conference relative to the situation and they are almost unanimous in their belief in the efficacy of jail sentences.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Leaders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars announce that another "Poppy Day" campaign is under way, with the coming Memorial Day the time for the distribution of poppies in the work of collecting money gifts to aid the work of the V. of F. W. everywhere. The Sun has received from headquarters of this war veterans organization, Kansas City, a letter bringing the information that President Coolidge has placed his seal of approval on the annual Poppy campaign conducted Memorial Day each year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In his letter to General Lloyd M. Brett, commander-in-chief of the V. of F. W. and adjutant general of the district of Columbia, the president says:

"It is a pleasure to comply with your request for a word of endorsement and approval of the poppy campaign which the Veterans of Foreign Wars are organizing. I note with particular interest and satisfaction your statement that the movement is to be made by discharging the effort through this organization to perpetuate and strengthen the national sentiment of obligation to those who served their country in the World war will be eminently successful."

Disabled veterans of the World war declared non-eligible by the United States Veterans Bureau, are employed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars to manufacture the poppies to be used in the national campaign in May. The main factory is located at Pittsburgh, Pa., is strictly modern in every equipment and is supervised by war veterans only. Officials of the veterans' bureau inspect the "Buddy Poppy" factory daily and are enthusiastic over what seems to be a solution of the most vexing problem yet to confront the government—the rehabilitation of those pronounced heretofore non-eligible for anything.

In connection with Veterans of Foreign Wars affairs, it is told that Washington is taking up the matter of admission taxes on entertainments conducted by veterans of the service. Efforts are now being made by the legislative committee of the V. of F. W. to have the government tax laws, which exempt the American Legion from paying taxes on entertainments, extended to dances, etc., sponsored by other veterans' societies. These efforts, it is believed by local V. of F. W. members, will meet with success. Congressman John H. Garner, ranking democrat on the ways and means committee in the house of congress, declared that the laws should be amended so as to include the V. of F. W. members.

Mr. Garner has always been glad to receive communications of this sort from war veterans and has always given his services to aid them.

Gallon prices for the well known gasoline are certainly changeable. Get a "five" tonight at so much per sign out in front of the garage, and then, if you happen to have to ride up again for another "fill up," you may have to "break down" and other favorite dances of the "old sod." If the young

The next "A. K. C." show under Lowell Kennel club auspices, will undoubtedly bring dogs from near the Canadian line and from New York state points this year. The date, June 12, ought to be ideal in every way for a successful show, for traveling conditions at that time, both by steel rail and state highways, should be in excellent shape for shipments of both show dogs and their owners. I am told that President Taft intends to make this a stellar show for his first attempt as king of the kennel toppers, and he is going to have the cordial support of every club member as well as many county dog-fanciers who are not enrolled as members but who wish the Lowell Kennel club organization well.

You are entitled to know why you are asked to pay more for your Coffee—Here are the facts

Today the world's available surplus of coffee is at a dangerously low point. Demand has overrun production, and the present price increase is the result.

The world's consumption of coffee has been steadily growing, while coffee production has fallen off. There have been poor years—years when production ran high in quantity, but low in quality. Last year's crop was large, but badly rain damaged. This year's crop—which will soon come into the market—is disappointingly small.

Then, too, for some years after the war money in the coffee growing countries was much depreciated. Now it is recovering and the increase in value means that the United States dollar buys less raw coffee than it did heretofore.

In the coffee industry, just as in any other, when available supplies are low, prices increase.

And when the price of raw coffee advances, there are just two things the coffee importer can do—

He can maintain quality, and increase the selling price proportionately—

Or he can maintain the selling price—at the sacrifice of quality—by using those grades of coffee which come within his price limit.

For the House of Quinby, the first way to meet the present increase in raw coffee prices was the only way. The House of Quinby was founded on the "quality" principle.

Steadfastly, during all the years of business growth, we have held to our early determination never to allow any consideration of price to lower the quality-standard of La Touraine Coffee.

And so, now that supplies of high grade raw coffee are scarce enough to cause a rise in prices, the House of Quinby has unhesitatingly bought the best—considering the higher price we have had to pay as "quality insurance" for La Touraine Coffee.

There is no way to evade or combat the law of supply and demand. We cannot hope to control the price of raw coffee—

But we can control the quality of La Touraine Coffee, and the present price — 52 cents a pound—is the reflection of our determination to maintain La Touraine quality under all conditions — to give the people of America what we have always given them in the past, and what they have learned to expect — the best.

hage collection service—not for a minute they don't."

During the winter months, garbage is supposed to be collected in the Hoyt avenue and Oakland section of the city twice a week. It has been collected twice a week, as a general rule, only the city garbage men don't visit some of the homes in that section of the city but once a week when weather conditions are not favorable. You can't blame them, possibly.

But another collecting agency jumps in rather mysteriously but brightly when word gets around that the city garbage collectors have failed to make their week-end rounds on Fridays and Oakland citizens aren't kicking a bit about it.

Last Saturday, there were no week-end collections in certain districts of the Oakland by the regular garbage men on the city pay rolls. That made but one collection on Monday. At the end of the week, piles on the back porch were running over after the Monday collections.

Late Saturday afternoon, then, just before sunset and when the shadows were slowly creeping over Fort Hill and environs, there was a furor in the vicinity of Hoyt avenue and especially in the neighborhood of 132.

"Here comes the garbage men, ma!" yelled a youngster playing on the door steps.

Another was tickled tremendously. The imitation garbage holders on the back piazza, three steps up, were filled to capacity and two bread pans held the overflow.

The appearance of the new garbage collecting brigade was unannounced and created a real nice sensation. But on Saturday afternoon—at 5:45 o'clock—"Geo whizz!" said Tommy on the front piazza steps, "Think of 'em, the garbage men, coming around at this hour of a Saturday!"

But they weren't city employees. They were strangers. And they knew their business. Starting at Fort Hill park entrance, with a tired-looking but husky horse attached to a light delivery wagon set high upon skinny wheels and the wagon containing three barrels—one of them a line barrel out of date—the three unknown boys, working fast, trotted into every back yard and found the garbage cans.

They probably knew the piles would be filled to the brim and the collectors carried wooden pails and emptied the piazza contents into the receptacles, returning to the high wagon and handing them to a youth waiting in the cold by the barrels. Come again boys!

FUND FOR RELIEF OF GERMAN CHILDREN

A short business meeting of the Lowell committee of General Allen's fund for the relief of German children was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the chamber of commerce rooms, at which plans for the local drive for funds were discussed.

In the absence of Hon. Perry D. Thompson, William N. Goodell served as temporary chairman. William E. Trotter, secretary of the committee, reported on a conference held with New England Director Sprague last Sunday, concerning the method of collecting funds in this city. As a result of this conference, Mr. Trotter reported that the most successful plan, in his estimation, would be to hold a mass meeting to awaken interest at which Congressman John Jacob Rogers and Edward A. Fienne would be invited to speak before making a drive for funds.

Plans for the campaign were not gone into in detail owing to the fact that several members of the committee had to leave the meeting early to keep other engagements. At adjournment it was voted to hold another meeting one week from Wednesday, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

In working on plans for the campaign the committee realizes that a certain amount of prejudice will have to be overcome and it will endeavor, at the mass meeting, through the mail and through the press, to show, by figures and facts gathered by Americans, that the German children are starving and need the help of America, which has never turned a deaf ear to the pleading of a suffering nation, whether a former enemy or a friend.

The following statement of facts by the American Friends society, better known as the Quakers, is of interest: Five million German school children, or 50 per cent of the total number, are undernourished.

Two million of them face actual starvation.

Thousands of thousands of children are being sent to school daily without breakfast.

Up to 20 per cent of children applying at six years for admission to school have to be sent home as unfit to attend.

Infant mortality has increased 21 per cent in three months.

The birth rate has decreased 50 per cent in some localities.

Fifteen to 25 per cent of children under two years old in hospitals have lung tuberculosis.

Only 50 per cent of mothers are able to nurse their babies.

Fats, cereals, cod liver oil and milk for undernourished children are almost unobtainable.

Nearly 4,000,000 persons are totally unemployed and 3,600,000 are working only part time.

Thirty-nine cents a day is the highest unemployment dole.

St. Patrick's Day was fittingly observed at the Elk's club last night, a large number of Elks and their fair friends making merry in the Middle street club rooms until a late hour.

Fencing was the principal part of the program. Several performers from Keith's theatre took part in the evening's fun and enhanced greatly the safety of the evening. There was a goodly turnout and the holiday spirit was uppermost.

The receipts of the entertainment of last night will be turned over to the Boston convention committee of the "Irish Night" entertainment, given of course being mounted in the color scheme. The artistic trimming denoted much labor preparatory to the affair. It was the usual Elk time that it was a real good one good without saying.

MURPHY WINS OVER SHUBERT

Lowell Boxer Scores 29th Consecutive Victory by Decision, in Lynn

Large Crowd From Lowell Witnessed Rugged Bout—Lefty Williams Beaten

LYNN, March 18.—With a record crowd on hand, including a large delegation from Lowell, Billy Murphy, sensational youth from the Spindle City, won his 29th consecutive victory here last night with Al Shubert of New Bedford, a victim for a second time. In their former meeting the bout was close, but last night Murphy won by a wide margin, having the advantage in eight of the ten rounds, holding Shubert over in one and losing only the last round when Shubert, realizing that his only hope rested in scoring a knockout, made a desperate attempt to score a decisive blow. He did score many points, but the clever and alert Murphy did not permit him to get away with it. Murphy came into the ring weighing 132, while Shubert tipped the beam at 137. An argument over Shubert's handages arose at the outset and after a vigorous protest on the part of Alex MacLean, manager for Murphy, the referee, Henry Brown, ordered the "handicap" to remove some of the weight.

DELANEY-CLARKE BOUT STOPPED BY INSPECTOR

NEWARK, N. J., March 18.—The 12-round middleweight bout last night between Jack Delaney, who jumped into the limelight by stopping Paul Delaney last week, and Jackie Clarke of Allentown, Pa., was stopped in the eighth round by Chief Boxing Inspector Matt Adams, who said he was dissatisfied with the showing. Clarke boxed his fighters at the center of the ring and police escorted the two men from the ring at the conclusion. Delaney declared afterward that "Jackie would not be heavy." Delaney, however, was not heavy, will attempt to begin his way back by meeting Harry Kinn of Akron, Ohio, March 21, in a semi-final to the Ohio-Tennessen boxing bout here for the title heavy-weight championship.

Novel Way to Increase Pay

Thomas F. Maguire, former member of the Label Committee of the Cigar Makers' Union, says: "The cigar makers should request all cigar manufacturers to use the same kind of tobacco that is used in the Elcho cigar, namely, the expensive long Havana filler, which is much easier to work than the cheaper short filler."

"If this were done, it would enable all cigar makers to make more cigars, thereby making more money. We realize the manufacturers will say that of course the Elcho costs more wholesale than other Boston cigars—but on the other hand the cigar maker claims that the retail price of the Elcho to the smoker is the same as other so-called popular brands."—Adv.

UNIONS ASKED TO ASSIST COAL TEAMSTERS.

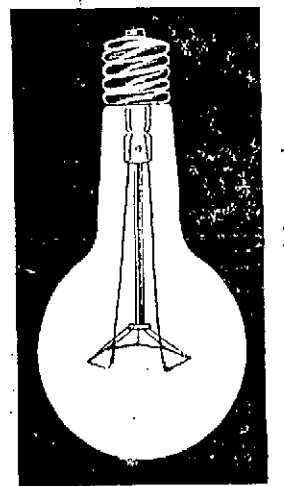

A striking example of the success that follows an honorably-conducted, energetic local campaign for the spread of the principles of organized labor, has just been brought to the attention of Lowell public by Local No. 72, International Association of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Stablemen and Helpers, of this city. A well-organized solicitation campaign was inaugurated several weeks ago for the purpose of enlisting new members and boosting the merits of union organization in order that fair wages and working hours may be everywhere in the future. In the coal-handling business in Lowell and vicinity, at least, widespread members of Local 72 reported today a new enrollment of several dozen members, making the total now more than 200 teamsters, chauffeurs, stablemen and helpers. VARIOUS QUIZZES LINKED TO PUZZLING EXTENT

(This is the second of Charles P. Stewart's weekly digest of the Washington investigations, which will make it easier for you to follow, day by day, the wire stories with greater understanding.)

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
N.E.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18. The oil, the Daugherty, the Veterans' bureau and other pending or expected investigations in Washington are getting so mixed together it's hard to tell which is which.

Senator Lenroot has resigned as chairman of the oil investigators—sick. Besides, he was accused of friendliness to some of those he was investigating—of trying to make the inquiry too easy for them. The new chairman, Senator Ladd, Senator Walsh is the real prosecutor, anyway.

The Daugherty committee is just getting to work. Senator Brookhart, chairman, says it will co-operate with the oil investigators.

The oil inquiry has brought out hints that men in government posts have used official information to "play the market." In fact, Atty. Gen. Daugherty admitted that he dabbled in oil, though he denied the "official information" part.

This gives the Daugherty committee a clue—one place where the wool in the Daugherty's "prob" may touch as many more officials as to start an entirely new inquiry.

One of the charges for the Daugherty committee to sift is to the effect that the justice department, of which Daugherty is head, "called off" agents who were trying to stop Americans from "running guns" to the Mexican revolutionists in Mexico. Oil interests, according to this story, were trying to overthrow President Obregon.

Fall's, Doherty's and Sinclair's names are mentioned. So here again the oil and Daugherty cases overlap. Oilmen attempts to make trouble for Daugherty are reported long before Daugherty's time, too.

The Chicago grand jury, which indicted ex-Director Forbes of the Veterans' bureau, accidentally unearthed evidence that certain congressmen had taken bribes to get bootleggers out of jail. In turn, this brought out a story of a big plot by bootleggers to get liquor from government warehouses.

If such a plot existed it must have included the justice department. Thus the Daugherty case, the Veterans' bureau inquiry and a prospective prohibition investigation are linked.

Leonard Wood, Jr., is quoted as saying certain oil men offered to help in his nomination in 1923 if he'd appoint Jake Hanson as Oklahoma secretary of the interior, the job Fall finally got. Both the oil and Daugherty committees have subpoenaed young Wood.

At last the oil committee has questioned E. B. McLean, millionaire newspaper owner, who pretended to be a laborer, but who had been in the oil business for years. He had admitted he got the money from Doherty, the man he loaned the Elk Hills oil reserve to. But McLean says he didn't know Fall's reason—or anything about the oil leaves, more than everybody knows now. As his "confidential man," F. Major, put it, "McLean was as far as he could for a friend—and all for nothing."

The government's just starting suit to knock out the Sinclair and Doherty leases. If it fails, Sinclair and Doherty threaten damage claims. There's more talk of criminal prosecutions, too, but nothing definite.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, quitting, with his last official breath, declared the oil leases were a good thing for the government and no secret at all. They were so good, adds Doherty, commenting on this statement, that the government owes him $2,627,100 for oil rights now.

ago worked steadily as a machinist in one of the local mills. Since being laid off work he had acted slightly depressed but appeared all right at about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was last seen by the lodging house keeper.

This morning, while cleaning up the rooms of the house, Irene Cole, a maid in Mrs. Goodness' employ, tried the door of Violet's room and found it locked. She knocked at the door and called his name several times but received no answer. Summoning assistance the door was forced open and Violet found dead, lying across his bed.

Lieut. Martin Maher was sent from the police station to investigate the case and reports finding a tumbler partly filled with a Paris green mixture and considerable Paris green on the floor and bed. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Alling later viewed the body and reported death due to suicide.

Violet was divorced some time ago and the whereabouts of his former wife could not be learned this morning. The only known relative is a sister, Mrs. Charbonneau, who resides at 204 Moody street. Acting under instructions from the medical examiner, the body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Regular & Regner.

Opium Problem in America

did upon the heels of the treaty between England and America which was brought about in order to regulate the liquor importation in this country, is quite interesting.

"This measure was enforced because the Orduna contained a large supply of drugs which she was distributing here."

In the list recently published in the Literary Digest giving the percentage of the non-enforcement of opium law in the various sections and states of the country, Massachusetts is listed as having 70 per cent. non-enforcement. "However, our country has the best record of any country in the world in regard to the serious attitude taken upon the narcotic smuggling."

"The first step toward the ending of this trade was made during the first months of the Taft administration at the conference of Shanghai. At the Hague conference in 1912, it was proposed that the exportation and production of opium be gradually decreased as the years went on."

"One of the most remarkable steps taken was that by the opium commission of the League of Nations. It was there stated that the use of opium be cut to medical and scientific use only. The representative of India asked that Dr. Wellington Cooper's reference to 'medical' use be changed to 'legitimate' use."

"Although the United States was not a member of the League of Nations she asked to be allowed a voice in the opium matter and in May of last year, a commission headed by Steven Paulter stated at the conference in Geneva that the 'production' and the 'use' of opium be limited to medical and scientific uses only."

"The world convention called by the League of Nations at which the whole matter of the opium question will be settled, is soon to be held and will be of the deepest interest to all concerned with the circulation and use of the drug."

"The whole truth of the matter is that in 1739, Warren Hastings, stated that although opium should not be imported into England it should be exported in as large quantities as possible to other nations. He was concerned with the circulation and production, not the importation."

"India and China, are the largest producers of narcotics although this is a poor production. Persia and Turkey produce all the medicinal narcotics which are of the highest value."

"This measure, however, so long as the east produces and the west consumes, or in other words when the various continents hold opposite views on the matter, the fight is only in its initial stage and no one knows where it will end."

Mrs. Gilson then related a few interesting personal experiences of her travels among the people of Czechoslovakia, where people live always on the hunger line; are so stupid that they do not know enough to get out of the way of an approaching train; and whose clothing consists of homespun cloth made into various smock-like garments."

Mrs. Gilson also gave a short resume of the conditions in Washington saying at the conclusion: "The things are getting matter every day and the more one talks about conditions there the nastier they get."

Mrs. Gilson, who concluded her series of interesting lectures this morning, of which there were six, is soon to leave for South America where she will study conditions among the natives of that section of the world.

that a democrat would likely win the credit of getting through legislation which has been talked of for many years, suggests the Gorham street site and calls for but $200,000. This site is unanimously opposed by members of the Lowell bar.

While there is some possibility of a new committee bill being reported out it seems to be the consensus of opinion among the senators that the bill proposed by Mr. Jewett, the republican whip, will be reported out in deference to the republican majority in the house. Regardless of what bill is reported, Mr. Corbett, as the original sponsor of the project, is credited as father of the proposal to build a new court house here, inasmuch as he was first to take some actual forward step to bring it about. For this reason it is felt certain that the committee will grant his request that he be permitted to appear in executive session.

leading down to the water wheel and fell headlong, his body being caught on the main shaft from the water wheel to the main pulley which operated the machinery of the mill, and whirled about until other employees of the mill saw the body and shut down the water supply for the wheel, bringing it to a stop.

Mr. Cork's body was badly mangled and was almost beyond identification. Medical Examiner Marshall L. Alling was summoned and ordered the body removed to the undertaking establishment of W. Herbert Blake.

In speaking of the accident, Treasurer Ames Stevens said that Mr. Cork had been employed at the mill as an engineer for about 10 years and was familiar with the conditions near the water wheel. He said that the steps leading to the wheel are ice-covered during the winter months, the ice forming from the spray from the wheel, which is of the horizontal type. Employees of the mill, all of whom knew and liked Mr. Cork, were considerably unnerved by the accident and on account of this Mr. Stevens ordered the mill shut down for the day.

LOOKS LIKE A BUSY JUNE IN EUROPE!

Leap year probably will see at least three royal weddings in Europe. And no doubt it will steal away all the marriageable sons and daughters of the kings and queens of Italy and Belgium. The dopesters on the imperial watch-making figure it all out like this: Prince Nicholas of Roumania, and Princess Mafada, Victor Emmanuel's second daughter, shown on the right, will go to the altar first. Then there will be a double wedding in which Princess Marie of Belgium becomes the bride of Humbert, Italian crown prince, center, and Princess Giovanna, Marie's younger sister, becomes the wife of Leopold, Albert's eldest son and heir to the Belgian throne.

Tewksbury citizens have been called to attend a special town meeting on March 24, to act on street lighting problems. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the evening, for attendance is expected to be larger if the meeting is held at that time.

The voters will be asked to raise and appropriate the sum of $3000 to maintain street lights removed last month, "or take any action relative thereto."

There is also an article in the warrant calling for the installation of lights in Shawheen street, from the Collins house to Ruff's crossing, so called, and to the corner of Maple and Ballard streets via the "paved street," so called.

endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted compensation.

Chairman Green of the ways and means committee brought the new bill up today under an agreement for suspension of the rules. This action automatically limited debate to 10 minutes, except by unanimous consent for an extension, and prevented the offering of amendments. A two-thirds majority, however, was necessary for passage.

The total cost of the bill is estimated at $2,119,000,000, to be spread over a period of 20 years. The maximum cost for the first year is placed at approximately $135,000,000.

It is estimated 3,038,383 veterans would be entitled to insurance policies and $39,552 to cash payments of $50 or less, while $65,741 would not be eligible for any bonus having served less than sixty days. It is estimated also that 133,595 had died up to January 1, this year, whose dependents would be entitled to their adjusted service credits.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 17

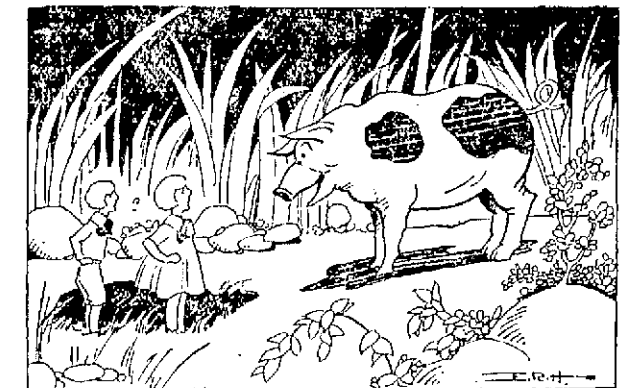

The home-made little sailing ship stood right up straight and glided along in fine shape. Jack watched it admiringly and then asked the hermit if he ever did any other whittling besides on little boats. "Oh, yes," replied the old man, "I made that big boat, too." And he pointed to the canoe they had fished in.

"Gee!" said Jack, "I'd like to see you make one of those." "Well, I'll just do it," came the reply. And then the hermit led the way to his tent. "Come inside, young man, and I'll show you some real curiosities." So Jack followed his whiskered friend inside the queer-looking tent.

Never had the little adventurer seen such a lot of odd things. There were guns of all kinds, a great number of tools, lots of animal skins hanging on a pole and many other things. Flip, who had followed his master into the tent, started barking at the line of animals' skins. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

"Oh, dear!" cried Nancy as an idea struck her.

"Yes, sir," said the Scarecrow of Beanstalk Land, shaking his wobbly straw head. "There is a treasure buried right there where that mound is, as sure as you're alive. I heard the thieves quite plainly even if it was too dark to see their faces. And by daylight they were gone. I've been dying of curiosity ever since."

"Come on, Nancy, let's dig down and find out," cried Nick. "Maybe it's the rest of the treasure that Jack's giant hid."

So the two children set to work with a will, but they had no shovels and soon got very tired.

Suddenly they heard a grunting noise and along came one of the Beanstalk pigs, his wet nose close to the ground, sniffing and sniffing like everything.

"When he saw the Twins he blinched his queer little eyes. 'Hello,' he squealed. 'Who in creation are you? I thought I knew all the wood creatures by sight.'"

"We're not wood creatures! We came up from the earth on a beanstalk," Nick told him. "We're Twins."

"Twins? Well, I declare!" laughed the Beanstalk pig. "You're queer fruit to grow on a beanstalk! But, say! if you came from the earth, did you see any truffles? I like truffles awfully, they are hard to get as they grow away down under the ground like potatoes. The only way I can find them is to root with my nose."

"Oh, dear!" cried Nancy as an idea struck her. "Can you really dig with your nose?"

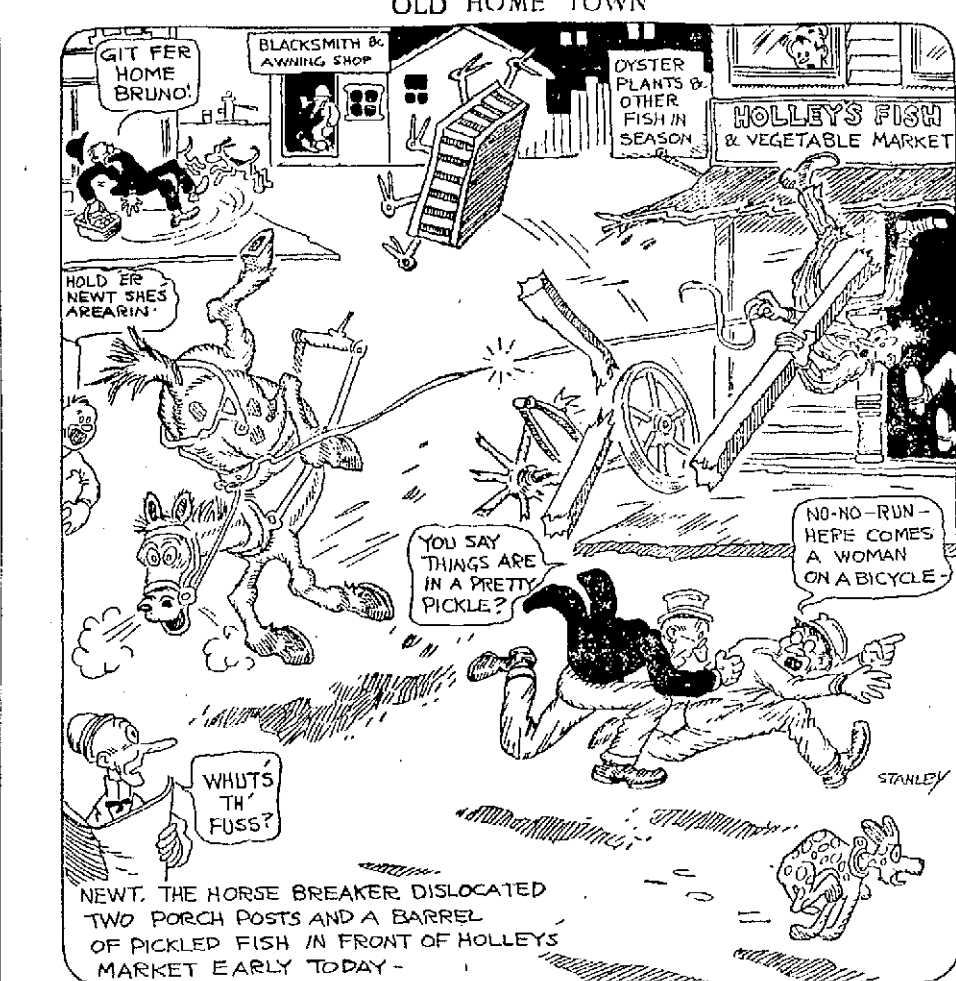

"Can't I just?" remarked the pig with pride. "It is my chief accomplishment, and set to work with a will. I digged so fast that soon he disappeared altogether."

All at once he stuck out his head and said, "There's something hard here. I can't go down any farther. Besides there is an iron ring in it, and I can't bear the sight of a ring. They always make me nervous, for I had one in my nose once."

"We're very much obliged anyway," said Nick. "You've done us quite a favor."

"You're welcome!" said the pig. "But I guess I'll be going. My mouth is watering more than ever for a truffle. Goodbye!"

When he had gone, the Scarecrow said in a weak voice, "Oh, do hurry and open the box, children, for 'that must be what it is. I'm getting weak with excitement.' But the Twins couldn't budge the heavy lid any more than you could lift the roof off the schoolhouse. "Go to the palace!" said the Scarecrow, "and bring the king and queen. Most likely it is theirs anyway. Who else would have such a fortune?"

So off to the palace of Beanstalk Land trudged the Twins.

There stood the bald-headed gatekeeper and the fat stiff servants just as they had left them. And all the lords and ladies, too. And there sat the king and queen and the court cat, and everybody just as though nothing had happened.

PRICE PROBE ON GASOLINE

Gov. Cox Signs Bill Giving
Commission Power to
Make Investigation

Commodity is Now Legally
Classed as Among the
Necessaries of Life

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, March 18.—Governor Cox having affixed his signature to the bill which makes gasoline, from a legal standpoint, a "necessary of life," the commission on necessities of life will soon begin an investigation to determine the causes for recent fluctuations in the price of the commodity. Within a few months it will be recalled, gasoline dropped from a retail price of 27 cents to 15 cents, and then without apparent cause the price rebounded to 22½, where it now rests in most communities in the commonwealth.

Chairman Hultman proposes to find out whether this commodity is subject to the ancient law of "supply and demand." Always when the price is dropped, it is explained that there is an over-abundance somewhere in the country, and to facilitate movement lower prices are necessary. Accordingly prices are put down, usually for a few days, and then the upward curve begins once more.

While the commission continues to be quoted on the subject, it is obvious that there has been a strong suspicion that there have been, in fact, at least, some other causes for price changes. For this reason, the commission is now the reason why practically every one of the distributing companies learns simultaneously of the necessity for a change. While they have not yet demonstrated quite as great efficiency as real dealers in the respect, nevertheless it has been noted that it is very seldom one of the companies is far behind when a boost in prices occurs.

Attorney-General Jay R. Boston, who returned yesterday from a conference of attorney-generals in Chicago, will make every possible way for the inquiry which Commissioner Hultman is to make.

Disabled War Veterans

Today's meeting, he has also issued invitations widespread today to all disabled war veterans, whether they be members of Lowell chapter No. 2 or other patriotic organizations, such as the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Dr. Kelly's visit is intended to bring advice and assistance to all soldiers who fought the great fight and who are now despondent of government financial aid where disabled conditions prevail.

Leaders of the war veterans' rally scheduled for Memorial hall this evening, told the Sun that there is a list of nearly 500 soldiers today residing in Lowell and vicinity and deserving of immediate government financial and medical assistance. The names of all these received at the hall all tonight, are to be acted upon and their cases attended to by the visiting district physician, Dr. Kelly, who promises that all soldiers in the Lowell territory will soon have their claims adjusted if proper.

Today's meeting, starting at 5 p. m., will be open to the public as well as all World War veterans interested in work of assisting disabled soldiers. The veterans in charge of the rally already have the names of 125 soldiers of the war who have had government allowances discontinued, and this matter will also be discussed with Dr. Kelly at the Memorial hall meeting.

The following committee from Lowell chapter No. 2 will greet the visiting veterans (bureau attaches at Middlesex street station at 6:30): Commander William C. Gray, John Gray, George P. Percival and Past Commander Henry Sullivan.

Dr. Kelly had a notable World War record, enlisting in the infantry service at the age of 18 as a plain private, engaging in numerous hard-fought campaigns with the Twenty-sixth division and being wounded seven times. He was finally sent to station hospital, where he remained until his wounds were healed. After his evacuation from the hospital, he joined the ambulance service in the uniform of lieutenant colonel in France until the end of the war. He received several war medals and crosses for valiant service under fire, he retired from the ranks with lieutenant's rank.

Entering Tufts Medical college soon after the war, the veteran graduated within four years and received his diploma to practice medicine. He is now 62 years old.

The Lowell American Veterans are to start a new membership campaign on Tuesday evening, March 25. The commander has endorsed the stand recently taken by the Lowell American Legionnaires on the observance of April 15, Patriots Day, as a holiday that should be preserved in memory of those gallant Americans from Middlesex farms and shops, who fired the first shot in America's fight for freedom from English rule.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Directors Announce Another
"Lowell Day" Essay Contest in the Schools

Lowell chamber of commerce directors this morning announced that another "Lowell Day" essay contest, similar to the competitions conducted under chamber auspices during the past three years in honor of the anniversary day of the city's incorporation, will be arranged as usual this year.

The topic quoted above will be used by members of both the parochial and public grammar schools who may desire to enter the contest, which is free to all. In past years, a very large number of grammar school pupils have written essays on topics selected by Lowell directors by chamber of commerce executives. Many of the essays have been most excellent and sometimes it has been a real task for the judges to select and agree upon winners.

That the contests held from year to year as a part of the observance of "Lowell day" are looked forward to by many school children in the grammar department grades, goes without saying. The announcement issued today is made because the chamber executives desire to have the essay competition well advertised in advance.

Secretary-Manager George P. Wells, always an enthusiastic worker in the "Lowell day" essay campaign, plans, said this morning, that the parochial and public school pupils in the grammar grades must file their essays at the preliminary competition to be conducted in the schools on Friday, March 28.

Winners from each contesting school will then be selected, and they will be asked to enter the finals conducted at the high school on Monday, March 31. From the latter contest, the grand prize winner of the competition will be chosen.

While there is to be only one grand prize award, there will be separate awards given to preliminary winners in each school. In this way numerous essay contestants will receive recognition for meritorious work in their individual schools, as well as have a chance to compete in the finals for the grand prize.

Judges of the competitions, three in number, will be announced by chamber authorities soon.

YOUNG BANDIT ARRESTED

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Throws

Gun on Proprietor and

Robb Store

In juvenile court next Friday, a 15-year-old youth, whose name is being withheld by the police, will face a charge of robbery as the result of entering the variety store of Edward O'Connor at Lakewood and Bunker Hill avenues yesterday afternoon, and robbing the cash box at the point of a revolver. The youth was arrested in a pool room in Lakewood avenue some time later and booked at the police station by Sergeant Matthew McMan and Officer Matthew McMan and J. J. McMan on a charge of robbery. Bonds were set at $1000.

According to the story told the police by the proprietor, the youthful bandit entered his establishment about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He proceeded to a rear room where Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were busy, and immediately ordered them to throw up their hands. To emphasize the fact that he meant business, he pulled the trigger of the gun and sent a bullet whizzing through one of the windows, barely missing a woman and child who were passing the store at the time. He then filled the store, apparently being acquainted with the building, some 100 to 150 yards, with the police, and then, as the bold robber disappeared. He informed them that the same youth had robbed him on two previous occasions.

Today the Daugherty investigating committee with at least one of the men named by other witnesses as principal in the deal—William A. Orr, once secretary to former Gov. Whitman of New York—called to testify.

Atty Gen. Daugherty, meanwhile, had placed in the hands of Chairman Brookhart a letter stating that he was prepared to present testimony that he had seen Orr, together with A. L. Fink of Buffalo, N. Y., had offered to sell evidence against him and his brother, M. S. Daugherty, and friends, and that the proposals had been rejected.

Miss Stinson, divorced wife of Daugherty's friend, the late Senator Daugherty, in inquiry last Wednesday with a national story that included reference to a fifth deal from which she said Smith had told her "was" involving Daugherty and himself, hoped to obtain evidence. She is to be examined further by the committee having failed to complete her testimony in two days on the stand.

The attorney general's letter cited the names of his counsel for subpoena, among them James W. Holcomb, Samuel Underhill and Henry J. Ellis, of Cleveland, and M. S. Daugherty, of Washington. Courtrooms, Ohio, his brother and that committee's subsequent notification that a statement of what was expected to prove by our witnesses' testimony and answers such questions. The testimony of these witnesses, he said, was desired to prove that Miss Stinson and Fink made their alleged offer to sell the "discovery" evidence and that Fink's agent, asserted that it was not purchased by Daugherty's friends, they were going to New York to sell said evidence to other persons.

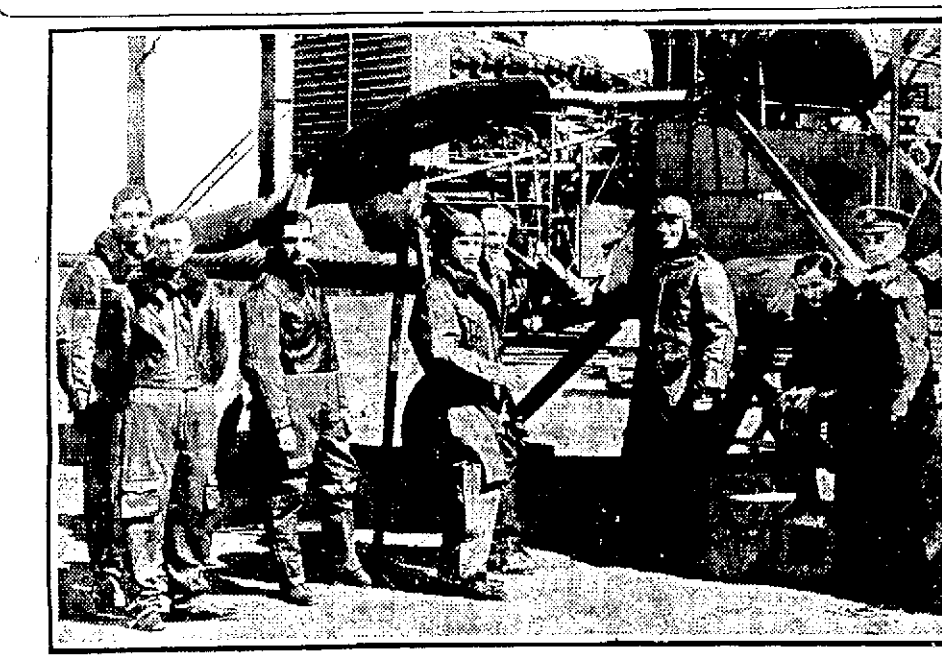

On whom Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, presiding at the inquiry, selected last yesterday to be today's first witness, has been identified to the committee as a party to the alleged agreement for distribution of the first film in violation of the law in which John Muma, New York correspondent of Edward J. McMan's "Independent" Inquiry, was said yesterday by it, O. Hollidge, former department of justice agent to have described himself as the "most honest" The committee was considering the question of immunity last night with reference to a plan to hear Muma today as well as Orr.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

SUDDEN WEALTH WON'T CHANGE THE MAJOR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 18.—Assured by the weather forecast that flying conditions would be ideal today, the army round-the-world pilots prepared to take off on the second leg, with Vancouver barracks, Washington, as their goal. The first leg of the trip, from Clover Field to the city, was completed in good time.

"We have prepared a schedule of five and one-half months for the trip, but I am telling the people that we will be back on American soil in four and one-half months," Major Frederick L. Martin told the Sacramento chamber of commerce at a dinner last night for the aviators.

Flight is first to illustrate to other nations that it can be done; second, to demonstrate the possibilities of aerial navigation, and third, to gather climatic statistics, so that in the future, commercial aerial navigation, transportation and lines of communication may be established.

"I know the route we are taking now will, of course, not be the more practical air line for commercial aircraft of the future. It is a step in the advancement of such transportation, however, and in many years to come, you and I, all of us will think nothing of going abroad by airplane."

Fourth Cracker Joke in Flight
CLOVER FIELD, SANTA MONICA, Cal., March 18.—Lieut. Erik H. Nelson, engineering officer of the army round-the-world flight, is expected to arrive here today from Rockwell field, San Diego, en route to join his fellow pilots of the globe tour in world cruiser No. 4, which was unable to take off with the other three biplanes of the squadron because of delayed delivery.

FEES TO CITY CLERK

He is Not Obligated to Turn Them Over—Part of His Compensation

The supreme court decides that the city clerk of Pittsfield in the absence of any charter or ordinance provision to the contrary, is not obligated to turn over to the treasury any special fees received by him. Inquiries as to whether this decision affects Lowell result in showing that conditions are similar to those of Pittsfield.

City Clerk Flynn receives about $300 in such fees, chiefly for divorces, and three he is allowed to retain as part of his compensation. Even then he receives $1000 less in salary than the clerks of other Massachusetts cities of Lowell's class. Thus the pay of the city clerk of the cities named is as follows:

Newton, $3000; Cambridge, $1300; Fall River, $300; Somerville, $2500; Springfield, $3500; New Bedford, $2500.

DISPUTE OVER WOMAN

GETS MAN IN TROUBLE

A dispute over a woman resulted in the appearance in district court this morning of Celestine Purson, charged with assault and battery on Christy Soosky. He pleaded not guilty and was committed in $300 bonds until tomorrow morning. Complainant and defendant both appeared in court with their faces bandaged as the result of an alleged row in an Adams street room last Sunday afternoon.

The trouble, according to Soosky, began when Purson entered the room and began talking to the girl. In the case, a dispute ensued, in which Soosky sustained a bad cut in the forehead that required three stitches. Purson's lip was bitten and required two stitches. In his defense, the latter claimed that he struck the complainant in self defense, when he was attacked "like a lion."

PLANES OFF ON SECOND LEG OF FLIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 18.—Starting this second leg of their 20,000 mile flight around the world, three airplanes of the United States army service took off from Matlow field near here, for Eugene, Ore., at 9:35 a. m. (2:45 eastern standard time).

The expected to reach Eugene about 3 p. m.

Major Frederick L. Martin, flight commander, hopped off first, followed by Lieut. Lowell L. Smith and Lieut. Wade. Weather conditions were ideal.

The flyers will remain in Eugene overnight and then will jump to Sand Point, Seattle, continuing a previously scheduled stop at Vancouver barracks, Washington.

CLOVER FIELD, SANTA MONICA, Cal., March 18.—Lieut. Erik H. Nelson, engineering officer of the army round-the-world flight, landed here at 9:29 a. m. (1:29 eastern standard time) from Rockwell field, San Diego. It was announced that he plans to remain here until tomorrow and then hop off for a 1200-mile flight to Sand Point, near Seattle, Wash., to join the three world cruisers.

In England it is estimated that government services absorb 23 per cent of the national income.

Volunteer Fireman Suffocated to Death in $75,000 Blaze at Branford, Conn.

BRANFORD, Conn., March 18.—George Viestrom, volunteer fireman, was suffocated to death, two other firemen overcome and property damage estimated unofficially at from $50,000 to $75,000 done by a fire which swept through two frame business blocks here early today. Half a dozen stores and several offices were burned out and a dozen persons, members of two families, rescued by firemen from apartments overhead. Firemen from nearby towns aided in saving the post-office block, Masonic hall and other structures which were threatened. Viestrom was overcome by smoke while trying to save valuable papers in one of the offices burned.

MILK PRODUCERS TO HOLD MEETING

Members of Lowell Milk Producers' association have been notified to attend a special meeting for members only, slated to be held at the plant of the Tuttle-Centre Creamery system on Walker street, Thursday evening of this week.

Few members of the "L.M.P.A." will talk about the coming meeting or what the next program is to be.

Northern milk is still being shipped into Lowell in carload lots daily, affecting local distributors and cutting into their "house-to-house" delivery trade, health reports here.

Lowell milkmen are active in some sections of the city where the farmer-producers had delivery routes unchallenged, that drastic action is planned to meet the present chaotic price conditions for retail deliveries before long, suburban milk peddlers aver.

OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS STATE SENATE REJECTS BILLS

High School Pupils May Compete for Free Tuition or Cash Prizes

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, March 18.—High school pupils in Lowell and other cities have been invited by the state department of education to participate in the competition for scholarships in leading colleges, including Yale and Vassar, being conducted by the American Chemical society.

The competition centers about the writing of essays on six specified subjects relating to chemistry, and there will be both state and national competitions. For the best essay written in each state on any one of the subjects, the society will pay a cash prize of $20; and the best essay submitted in the whole country will bring to the writer a scholarship at Yale or Vassar, as the case may be, together with a cash award of $500 for each of the four years of the regular college term.

In several other states one or more universities have joined in the movement and are offering scholarships to the state winners, and it is the hope of the state committee in charge of the competition that some Massachusetts college will follow a similar course.

The six specified subjects for essays are: The relation of chemistry to health and disease; the relation of chemistry to the enrichment of life; the relation of chemistry to agriculture and forestry; the relation of chemistry to national defense; the relation of chemistry to the home and the relation of chemistry to the development of the industries and the resources of the state.

In order to be considered in the competition, essays must be in the hands of the chairman of the award committee for Massachusetts not later than April 1st. The chairman for Massachusetts is Frank W. Hobbs, president of the Arlington mills of Lawrence, whose business address is 18 Chauncy street, Boston.

The second hearing was in connection with the death of Timothy T. O'Keefe, of 117 First avenue, who was found unconscious at the corner of Rogers and Newcomb streets about midnight on March 7, and died the following day at St. John's hospital without enlightening investigators on the circumstances regarding the accident. It is the opinion of the police that death resulted from injuries sustained by being struck by an automobile, who occupants drove off without reporting the incident or making themselves known.

FELL SIX STORIES, HELD AS AERIAL BURGLAR

NEW YORK, March 18.—Raymond Tapia, 23 years old, fell six stories from the roof of a West 66th street apartment early today, and lived, only to be placed under arrest as an "aerial burglar."

Tapia alighted on a pile of coal in a courtyard, a circumstance which undoubtedly saved his life. He suffered internal injuries and a fractured leg. Asked how he came to be on the roof, Tapia told the police two men had lured him there and then attempted to rob him. He was knocked off, he said, when he put up a fight.

Detectives searched his rooms, however, and claim to have recovered several thousands of dollars worth of furs and gems stolen in recent robberies. They said they believed Tapia entered apartments by swinging on a rope from roofs, lowering himself to opened windows.

OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS STATE SENATE REJECTS BILLS

Freak and Discriminatory Measures Sent to Waste

Basket Without Debate

Brief Debates Mark House Session as Committee Reports Meet Action

BOSTON, March 18.—Yesterday proved to be "rejection day" in the state senate the upper branch of the legislature stinging one of its pre-arranged affairs when bills are tossed out the window without a word of debate.

One of the measures to go by the board in this way was drawn to forbid the eating of snailshells between the first day of April and the first day of October. While "eating" was not mentioned in the measure, which was a provision that no one may take or have in possession, which would accomplish the purpose. It was reported unanimously by the committee on conservation, and rejected unanimously by the senate.

Another was a bill requiring the assessors in each city and town when making their annual report in April, to ascertain in the case of every alien resident the country of his citizenship. It was described as a bill "to facilitate the Americanization of aliens," and perhaps its rejection was due to an inability to understand how the information required would serve this purpose.

The third bill killed provided that the dedication of a part of the Charles river parkway in Cambridge as "Memorial Drive," in honor of the residents of Cambridge who lost their lives in the World war should be held to include also the casualties in all other wars in which this country has engaged.

The house put an end, for the present session at least, to the movement to raise the compulsory school age to sixteen years. An adverse report on the proposal, accepted in the senate several days ago, was also accepted in the house, so that the bill is finally dead for this year.

There was a brief debate in the house on several bills in which an attempt was made to amend legislation in the senate. An adverse report on the proposal, accepted in the senate several days ago, was also accepted in the house, so that the bill is finally dead for this year.

The house also accepted an adverse report on a measure providing that every street railway car shall be equipped with an automatic stop light at the rear, but postponed until today its consideration of four bills designed to prevent the operation in this state of one-man cars so-called.

An adverse report was accepted on a bill providing that persons holding city or town offices may be candidates for re-nomination without going to the trouble of circulating nomination papers. Provision was made in the bill that the official's name would go on the ballot in the same district as the city or town clerk written notification of his desire to seek his place again.

TWO SESSIONS OF PROBATE COURT

Two sessions of probate court were held today in the Gorham street courthouse, Judge Leggat being in for the greater part of the morning busy with wills and administrations and Judge White starting with the divorce calendar. Later in the day, some of the divorce cases were changed from the court of Judge White into that of Judge Leggat, due to the large amount of business on the latter's calendar.

Rev. Wilson (see front page) was granted a decree from William J. Wilson, present whereabouts unknown, whom she married here January 15, 1910. The mother has custody of the one child, now 12 years old. Mrs. Wilson said her husband deserted her in January, 1919, and she has not since had communication with him. She will resume her maiden name.

Ida May Richards was granted a decree from Charles E. Richards of Tyngsboro, who became her husband in Lowell on June 3, 1899. The wife alleged neglect and cruel and abusive treatment.

K. Frances Brady of Somerville was granted a decree from Christopher J. Brady, a Boston trolley car starter, whom she married in Medford in 1914. She set forth cruel and abusive treatment.

Vincent Goulam secured a divorce from Vestia Mae Goulam on grounds of desertion. He married her here on April 2, 1895, and asserted that she deserted him in 1906, going to Rangley Village, Maine, where she is now believed to be making her home.

Next on the list is the case of Grace M. against Frank D. Harris. Mrs. Harris seeks a divorce, the privilege of resuming the use of her maiden name and custody of her child. She alleges cruelty.
